Summer

Food Service PROGRAM

Kids can receive a free meal through The Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) when their schools take a long break! The SFSP is a USDA funded program, which is administered by the South Carolina Department of Social Services. School districts, government agencies and nonprofit organizations can qualify to sponsor sites under this program in their service areas. SFSP site locations are set up at schools, parks, low-income housing areas, churches, etc., and usually activities are offered at these sites.

SFSP BENEFITS ALL!

Meals are free to all children under age 18 and no registration is required at most sites.

Children receive nutritious meals they need to grow and help them return to school healthy and ready to learn.

Parents stretch their food dollars and have a safe environment for their children to enjoy summer activities.

Organizations receive funds to provide meals to complement already scheduled programs.

Community based programs are enhanced and additional jobs are available.

HEALTHY & DELICIOUS MEALS

- All meals meet the USDA nutrition guidelines
- Hot and/or cold menus may be available.
- Children attending a summer site may receive up to two meals per day. Sites that serve migrants and camps may serve up to three meals per day.

GET INVOLVED!

Participation is needed and support is easy. Here are a few ways you can get involved:

Send Your Child to a Site Near You.

Parents/Guardians may send children to a site in their neighborhood.

Become a Sponsor. Public and private nonprofit organizations may sponsor the program in their community. Sponsors are responsible for the administration and financial management of the program.

Run a site. Organizations/individuals may work with sponsors to offer a location where meals may be served to children.

Spread the Word. Organizations/individuals can promote the program in their communities and refer children to available programs. Community leaders can be especially helpful in informing parents, teachers and the public about the program.
