

J-1 Visa Exchange Visitor Categories

What is a Category?

The J-1 visa is a non-immigrant visa for individuals approved to participate in an Exchange Visitor Program. The multi-faceted Exchange Visitor Program enables foreign nationals an opportunity to visit the U.S. to teach, study, conduct research, demonstrate special skills, or receive on the job training for periods ranging from a few weeks to several years.

The particular purpose of the visit and the credentials of the Exchange Visitor (EV) will help to determine the appropriate category. The University of Utah is authorized to sponsor Exchange Visitor's in several different categories: (1) Research Scholar, (2) Professor, (3) Short-Term Scholar, (4) Specialist, and (5) College/University Student, which includes the Student Intern category.

Note: It is important to choose a category that both matches the purpose of the EV's visit and their qualifications.

Visa Categories and their Requirements:

- (1) Research Scholar - A foreign national whose primary purpose is conducting research, collaboration, observation, or consulting in connection with a research project at research institutions, corporate research facilities, museums, libraries, post-secondary accredited academic institutions, or similar types of institutions. A research scholar also may teach or lecture when authorized by the sponsor, but research activities must be the primary reason to visit.

Degree Requirement: Master's degree or above (contact ISSS if questions about this requirement)

Minimum Duration: 3 Weeks

Maximum Duration: 5 Years

- Used for appointments of 3 weeks to 5 years in duration
- Allows for extensions up to a continuous, uninterrupted 5 year maximum
- Time abroad for more than 30 days is allowed, but the visiting scholar must meet the eligibility requirements for a temporary absence
- Subject to a 24-Month Bar on a repeat visit in the Research Scholar or Professor category after the completion of the program. A SEVIS transfer to facilitate a continuation of program goals and objectives is not considered "completion" of a program.
- May be able to return to the U.S. in a different J visa category (such as Short-Term Scholar) at a later date, or in another type of non-immigrant status during the 24-month bar period. For more information on the Short-Term Scholar category, please review that information below.
- May be subject to the 212 \(e\) Two-Year Home Country Physical Presence Requirement

(2) Professor - A foreign national whose primary purpose is teaching, lecturing, observing, or consulting at post-secondary accredited academic institutions, museums, libraries, or similar types of institutions. Professors may also participate in departmental research but their primary purpose is to teach. If the EV will be here primarily to conduct research, the Research Scholar category above will be most appropriate, even if the individual is in a professor position in his or her home country.

Degree Requirement: Master's degree or above (contact ISSS if questions about this requirement)

 - The STS category cannot also be used to avoid the 24-month bar by visiting for multiple, consecutive visits, in order to complete an ongoing program objective (as an alternative to visiting in the Research Scholar category).
 - This category should also not be used immediately after completing a program in the Research Scholar or Professor category as a way to extend the duration of an exchange program beyond the 5 year maximum, where program goals and objectives of the visit would be a continuation of the original goals and objectives that were in place during the previous visit in the Research Scholar or Professor category.

An extension of stay is completed by requesting an extension of their DS-2019. The Exchange Visitor Program does allow a degree seeking student to matriculate in SEVIS to the next higher degree level, but does not allow a reverse matriculation.
