▼ Message from the National V.P. for Women

Dear Women of LULAC,

Welcome to Las Vegas and our 2019 National Women's Conference! We are extremely excited about this opportunity for us to come together, educate, inspire and empower each other.

As we look at today's climate and the significant gains women have made in our country, we must remember that this has required struggle, motivation, a constant presence and the continued promotion of issues that affect women, our families and our communities. Our gains have motivated women throughout the world – and we must continue the momentum.

The past few years have been extraordinary as we have seen historic numbers of women in leadership roles in all sectors of our society – from the community level, to executives in business, to the political arena – our presence is strong and will only continue to grow stronger. But this takes effort from all of us. We must continue the dialogue and continue to push forward on our agenda to improve the lives and influence of women today and for future generations.

Our 2019 Women's Conference is building off the accomplishments of Latinas over past years and particularly over recent monumental achievements. These achievements have generated excitement and energy, and we must continue striving to build upon where we are today and look forward to increasing our impact in the future.

Latinas of different ages and backgrounds are taking action through LULAC initiated programs and it is our hope that at this 2019 Women's Conference you too will be motivated and excited to work towards promoting yourself as well as other Mujeres. Our speakers and panelists will present information to encourage, educate and help you navigate issues in your own communities. We may live in different communities, cities, or states but our issues and our agenda are universal.

As I come to the end of my 4th year-long term as the National VP for Women, I pledge to continue to keep the women's agenda at the forefront of our organization. More than meeting once a year, we must continue to grow by educating women in different regions of our organization, so that together we can reach across America to strength our message. As a woman, I feel compelled and passionate to continue serving our women in all walks of life; and I know that together we will continue to grow along our paths and onto victories. I ask you to get or stay involved and help us by extending your hand to reach other women in your communities.

Our mission can only be accomplished with the great work of our LULAC staff and the leadership of the Women's Commission. I would like to personally thank each of them for a job well done.

It has been my honor to serve as National VP for Women and I am extremely proud of the accomplishments achieved during my tenure. My best wishes to you at our conference and in all your future endeavors. Adelante!

Sinceramente,

Lourdes Galvan

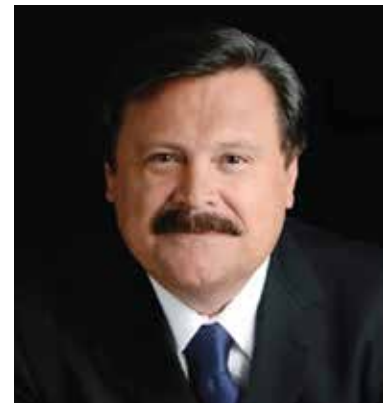

National Vice President for Women

Ms. Lourdes Galvan
National Vice-President for Women
League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC)

Dear LULAC Woman's Commission,

Congratulations on behalf of all of LULAC's membership throughout the United States and Puerto Rico to you and the LULAC National Commission for Women for the 2019 National Women's Conference being held in Las Vegas Nevada.

Your work and dedication to highlighting the many challenges women are facing as well as seeking solutions that can address them is an invaluable opportunity for all attendees. This gathering is especially vital at this time when gender barriers are being seen in the areas of health, education, employment, housing and so many more that touch our lives daily.

The work of women in LULAC and those who join you in this forum helps to strengthen our collective voice in the creation of inclusive views, policies and laws that will ensure a more equitable future for every member of Latinx communities throughout our nation. Indeed, women have made history in LULAC for decades and served as our conscience often in some of the most important decisions in our 90-year history. As we move forward it's a united effort that will make the difference.

I am confident that the 2019 National Women's Conference will only add to that historic record as we witness again the leadership that women forge when working together to advance their vision for equity and social justice.

Sincerely,

Domingo Garcia

Planned Parenthood Federation of America proudly supports

2019 LULAC National Women's Conference

Thank you for all that you do to empower Latino communities across the country.

Planned Parenthood serves more than 500,000 Latino patients each year and is proud to see patients regardless of income, insurance, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability, or immigration status. We are committed to protecting and expanding access to sexual and reproductive health care and education for all.

Planned Parenthood is the nation's leading provider and advocate of high-quality, affordable health care for women, men, and young people, as well as the nation's largest provider of sex education. Millions of people rely on Planned Parenthood every year for essential services, including cancer screenings, birth control, STD testing and treatment, HIV prevention tools, annual exams, and other reproductive health care needs.

Magaly Munoz is the Senior Manager, National Diversity Relations for MGM Resorts International where she is responsible for managing Company relationships with strategic Diversity and Inclusion partners at the local, state, and national levels. She joined the company in July 2010 as a guest service representative for Luxor Hotel & Casino, one of the company's 15 resorts. A year later, she joined MGM Resorts' corporate diversity and community engagement department as an executive assistant. Ms. Munoz excelled in her role and quickly rose up through the ranks to management.

She served as secretary for the company's Hispanic Latino Employee Network Group. As the Chair of the planning committee for MGM Resorts Foundation's annual Women's Leadership Conference, Ms. Munoz plays a vital role in its success, helping to distinguish the women's conference as one of the most popular in the region.

As a woman who wholeheartedly believes in the benefits of giving back to the community, Ms. Munoz supports a variety of groups that promote diversity. She sits on the board of the National Partnership for Homeless Youth, and on the Latin Chamber of Commerce's Educational Alliance Committee. She is also active with the Hispanic Association on Corporate Responsibility (HACR), where she is one of 30 National Award recipients of HACR's Young Hispanic Corporate Achiever's Program in 2015.

A lifelong singer, Ms. Munoz performed a lead singing role in "Inspiring Our World: A Musical Journey," an in-house stage production that showcased MGM Resorts' commitment to diversity, philanthropy and sustainability.

Originally from Durango, Mexico, Ms. Munoz moved to Las Vegas in 1993 where she was raised. She earned her bachelor's degree in International Business from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas and her MBA from the University of Phoenix.

Maria Cuba, Global Experiences Diversity Lead, Airbnb.

Ms. Cuba is a Massachusetts native who was raised in Puerto Rico with a multicultural background. She is one of Airbnb's earliest employees and the founder of their Latino Employee Group "Juntos". Her multiple passions have taken her from Law School to Interior Design School where she cultivated her love for words and the arts.

Maria works as a Global Diversity Lead for Airbnb's Experiences platform, focused on creating a diverse marketplace and bringing equitable opportunities and representation to all communities. Always a champion of Inclusion, she is committed to nurturing new pipelines for minorities in Tech and believes that Tech is key to social equality. Maria loves birds, puzzles, big trees and a story with a good plot. Her future paths lead to public and social service.

Courtney R. Snowden serves as the Senior Director for Strategic Partnerships at JUUL Labs, a company committed to improving the lives of world's one billion smokers and their families by creating alternatives to combustible cigarettes. Most recently, she served as the Deputy Mayor for Greater Economic Opportunity in Washington, DC, appointed by Mayor Muriel Bowser in April 2015. A sixth-generation Washingtonian, Courtney was charged with rebuilding and revitalizing overlooked and underserved communities, with a focus on building a world class workforce system and growing a vibrant small business ecosystem in the nation's capital.

Formerly a Principal at The Raben Group, a premiere progressive public policy firm, Courtney relied upon a wealth of grassroots organizing, electoral, and policy experience to work for her clients. An accomplished political strategist, Courtney lobbied for the firm's corporate and non-profit clients, including: Google, MasterCard, Airbnb, the National Urban League, the National Education Association, and Time Warner Cable.

Courtney has previously worked for then Congresswoman Tammy Baldwin (D-WI), the Human Rights Campaign, the Gay, Lesbian and Straight Education Network (GLSEN), as well as several local, state, congressional and presidential campaigns.

Martha Morales General Manager, Nobu Hotel at Caesars Palace.

Ms. Morales stands as one of the youngest general managers in Nobu Hotel's history. The Mexican native has quickly risen through the ranks of Caesars Entertainment, progressing from a hotel manager to a director of hotel operations in just seven years. She hears and understands the needs of line level team members as well as the company's vision and revenue goals.

Martha started her career in high school, where she worked full-time in the hotel industry while taking care of her daughter, eventually earning herself a full-ride scholarship to the University of Nevada, Las Vegas from the Epicurean Charitable Foundation. She graduated with a focus in hospitality administration and management. Years later, UNLV named her one of its 50 Most Intriguing Alumni. Martha is a proud recipient of the Caesars Palace Diversity Award, previously serving as a community chair for Vision in Action (VIA), the Caesars Entertainment business impact group for Latino/Hispanic employees and their allies. She now sits on the board for both Valley High School and the Epicurean Charitable Foundation, where she was once a young mentee. She was also honored as one of Las Vegas Inc's 40 Under 40 award. Eager to extend gratitude whenever possible, Martha never misses the opportunity to mentor students passionate about the hospitality industry.
