Note: The Major/Minor rule type will allow students in either the Major or Minor to enroll.

Step 8: Once you've selected the appropriate Booking Rule, choose whether to Include or Exclude the group of students that this rule applies to.

For instance, in the below example, "Include" would restrict the section to only permit Anthropology Majors & Minors to register. However, if we selected "Exclude" it would prevent Anthropology Majors & Minors from registering for this section, while allowing all other students.

Note: Booking Rules may not immediately appear under the Current Course rules area. The Course Scheduling team recommends auditing your Booking Rules after you've entered them all to ensure accuracy.

Important Reminders:

Multiple Booking Rules can be added to a course/section.

When multiple Rules of the same type (i.e. College, Classification, or Major/Minor) are active on a course/section, students who attempt to register will need to meet only one of the requirements. For example, if a course/section has Booking Rules for two different Majors/Minors, students will be able to register for the course as long as they are in one of those majors/minors.

However, when Rules of different types are added to a course/section, students attempting to register will need to meet all of the requirements. For example, if a section has a College rule and a Classification rule, students will only be able to register for the section if they meet both of these qualifications.

How to: Delete an Existing Booking Rule

Step 1: Search for the desired course using the same method described in steps 1-4 above. Click the “Delete” button to remove the Booking Rule from the selected section.
