A Donor's Guide to Vehicle Donation

If a tax deduction is an important consideration for you when donating a vehicle to a charity, you should check out the charity, check the value of your vehicle, and see what your responsibilities are as a donor.

Through this Publication 4303, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and state charity officials provide general guidelines for individuals who donate their vehicles.

A companion brochure, Publication 4302, A Charity's Guide to Vehicle Donations, provides guidelines for charities that receive donated vehicles.

Note: This publication is not intended as a guide for corporate donors.

Selecting a Charity

If you are eligible to deduct charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes (see Qualifying for a Tax Deduction, below) and you want to claim a deduction for donating your vehicle to charity, then you should make certain that the charity is a qualified organization. Otherwise, your donation will not be tax deductible. The most common types of qualified organizations are section 501(c)(3) organizations, such as charitable, educational, or religious organizations. This publication refers to section 501(c)(3) organizations generally as “charities.”

To verify that an organization is a charity qualified to receive tax-deductible contributions, use the “EO Select Check” tool on the IRS website, <http://www.irs.gov/Charities-&-Non-Profits/Exempt-Organizations-Select-Check>. You may also verify an organization’s status by calling the IRS Customer Account Services division for Tax Exempt and Government Entities at (877) 829-5500 (toll-free). Be sure to have the charity’s correct name. It is also helpful to know the charity’s address.

Not all qualified organizations are listed in EO Select Check (Pub.78 data). For example, churches, synagogues, temples, and mosques are not required to apply to the IRS for recognition of exemption in order to be qualified organizations and are frequently not listed. If you have questions, call Customer Account Services at the above number.

If you want to learn more about a charity before donating your vehicle, use the resources listed under Assistance Through the Charity, Through State Officials, and Through the IRS on page 8.

Qualifying for a Tax Deduction

You can deduct contributions to charity only if you itemize deductions on your Schedule A of Form 1040.

You must take into account certain limitations on charitable contribution deductions. For example, your deduction cannot exceed 50% of your adjusted gross income. Other limitations may apply. Publication 526, Charitable Contributions, provides detailed information on claiming deductions and the deduction limits. It also describes the types of organizations that are qualified to receive tax-deductible contributions. Publication 526 is available online at www.irs.gov or by calling (800) 829-3676 (toll-free).

Determining the Amount You Can Deduct

The following rules on deductibility apply to donations of qualified vehicles. A qualified vehicle is any motor vehicle manufactured primarily for use on public streets, roads, and highways; a boat; or an airplane. However, a vehicle held by you primarily for sale to customers, such as inventory of a vehicle dealer, is not a qualified vehicle. If you donated a non-qualified vehicle, see Publication 526 for the rules and limits that apply to property donations.

The amount you may deduct for a vehicle contribution depends upon what the charity does with the vehicle as reported in the written acknowledgment you receive from the charity. Charities typically sell the vehicles that are donated to them. If the charity sells the vehicle, generally your deduction is limited to the gross proceeds from the sale. However, there are certain exceptions, described below.

Written Acknowledgment for Vehicle Contribution Deduction of More Than $500

What the written acknowledgment must contain depends upon what the charity does with the vehicle. However, all acknowledgments must contain the following information:

- your name and taxpayer identification number,
- the vehicle identification number,
- the date of the contribution, and one of the following:
 - a statement that no goods or services were provided by the charity in return for the donation, if that was the case,
 - a description and good faith estimate of the value of goods or services, if any, that the charity provided in return for the donation, or
 - a statement that goods or services provided by the charity consisted entirely of intangible religious benefits, if that was the case.

Note: If the acknowledgment does not contain all required information, the deduction may not exceed $500.

Gross Proceeds Limit Applies — Generally, if the charity sells your vehicle, your deduction is limited to the gross proceeds the charity receives from its sale. In addition to the information indicated above, the contemporaneous written acknowledgment must contain:

- a statement certifying that the vehicle was sold in an arm's length transaction between unrelated parties,
- the date the vehicle was sold,
- the gross proceeds received from the sale, and
- a statement that your deduction may not exceed the gross proceeds from the sale.

Exceptions to Gross Proceeds Limit — Generally, if one of the following applies, you may be eligible to deduct your vehicle's fair market value on the date you donated it.

- The acknowledgment contains a statement certifying that the charity intends to make a significant intervening use of the vehicle, a detailed description of the intended use, the duration of that use, and a certification that the vehicle will not be sold before completion of the use.
- The acknowledgment contains a statement certifying that the charity intends to make a material improvement to the vehicle, a detailed description of the intended material improvement and a certification that the vehicle will not be sold before completion of the improvement.
- The acknowledgment contains a statement certifying that the charity intends to give or sell the vehicle to a needy individual at a price significantly below fair market value and that the gift or sale is in direct furtherance of the charity's charitable purpose of relieving the poor and distressed or the underprivileged who are in need of a means of transportation. This exception will not apply if the charity merely applies the proceeds from the sale of the vehicle to a needy individual for any charitable purpose.
- A special rule applies if the acknowledgment indicates that the donated vehicle sold for $500 or less. In this case, you may claim a deduction for the lesser of the vehicle's fair market value on the date of the contribution, or $500, provided you get a written acknowledgment from the charity that complies with the requirements described under Written Acknowledgment for a Vehicle Contribution Deduction of $500 or Less, page 5.

EXAMPLE 1: On April 1, you donated your car to the local food bank. When you donated the car, you had determined that the fair market value was $4,300. On November 10, the charity sold your car (to someone other than a needy individual), without any significant intervening use or material improvement, and received gross proceeds of $3,700. Your deduction may not exceed $3,700.

EXAMPLE 2: The charity certifies in an acknowledgment that it will make significant intervening use of the vehicle by using it daily for at least a year to deliver food to needy individuals. Your deduction may not exceed the fair market value of your car, $4,300.

EXAMPLE 3: The facts are the same as in Example 1 except the charity only received gross proceeds of $400 from the sale. Your deduction may not exceed $500.

Time and Manner of Providing Acknowledgment — You must obtain the written acknowledgment from the charity within 30 days from the date of the vehicle's sale, or if an exception applies, within 30 days of the date of the donation.

The charity may use Form 1098-C, Contributions of Motor Vehicles, Boats, and Airplanes, as acknowledgment or provide its own statement containing the information described above. Be sure to attach the acknowledgment and Form 8283, Noncash Charitable Contributions (see below), to your return.

Written Acknowledgment for a Vehicle Contribution Deduction of $500 or Less

If you are claiming at least $250 but not more than $500 as the value of your vehicle, the acknowledgment must include the name of the charity, a description (but not value) of your vehicle, and one of the following:

- a statement that no goods or services were provided by the charity in return for the donation, if that was the case,
- a description and good faith estimate of the value of goods or services, if any, that the charity provided in return for the donation, or
- a statement that goods or services provided by the charity consisted entirely of intangible religious benefits, if that was the case.

Time and Manner of Providing Acknowledgment — You must obtain the written acknowledgment on or before the earlier of the date you file your return for the year you donated the vehicle, or the due date, including extensions, for filing the return. A charity can provide you with a paper copy of the acknowledgment, or it can provide the acknowledgment electronically, such as via an email addressed to you. Do not attach the acknowledgment to your income tax return; instead, retain it with your records to substantiate your donation.

Determining the Fair Market Value of Your Vehicle

If an exception to the gross proceeds limit applies to your deduction or if you are claiming a deduction of $500 or less, you will need to determine your vehicle's fair market value as of the date of the contribution. Generally, fair market value is the price a willing buyer would pay and a willing seller would accept for the vehicle, when neither party is compelled to buy or sell, and both parties have reasonable knowledge of the relevant facts.

If you use a vehicle pricing guide to determine fair market value, be sure that the sales price listed is for a vehicle that is the same make, model, and year, sold in the same condition, and with the same or substantially similar options or accessories, as your vehicle. Moreover, the fair market value of a vehicle cannot exceed the price listed for a private-party sale.

EXAMPLE: You donate your car to a local charity that provides you with an acknowledgment certifying that it intends to make a significant intervening use of the car. Your credit union representative told you that the price listed for a private-party sale in a vehicle pricing guide could be as high as $1,600. However, your car needs extensive repairs, and after some checking, you find that you could only sell your car for $750. $750 is the fair market value of the car.

For more information on determining the value of your vehicle, see Publication 561, Determining the Value of Donated Property.

Recordkeeping and Filing Requirements

You must attach to your return the written acknowledgment received from the charity if you are deducting more than $500. Depending on the amount you are claiming as a charitable contribution deduction, you may need to get and keep certain records and file an additional form or statement to substantiate your charitable contributions. See the chart Recordkeeping and Filing Requirements on page 7.

Form 8283, Noncash Charitable Contributions

If the deduction you are claiming for a donated vehicle is greater than $500, but not more than $5,000, you must complete Section A of Form 8283 and attach it to your Form 1040.

If the deduction you are claiming is greater than $5,000, you must complete Section B of Form 8283, which must include the signature of an authorized official of the charity, and attach it to your return. In addition, if the deduction is over $5,000 and not limited to the gross proceeds from the sale of your vehicle, you must get a written appraisal of your vehicle (see Written Appraisal, below).

Written Appraisal

Your written appraisal must be from a qualified appraiser. See Publication 561, Determining the Value of Donated Property. The appraisal must be made no more than 60 days before you donate the vehicle. You must receive the appraisal before the due date (including extensions) of the return on which you first claim a deduction for the vehicle. For a deduction first claimed on an amended return, the appraisal must be received before the date the amended return is filed. When you file your income tax return (Form 1040 or Form 1040X), you will need to complete Section B of Form 8283, and attach it to your return.

If Section B is required and the charity sells or otherwise disposes of a vehicle within three years after the date of receipt, the charity must file Form 8282, Donee Information Return, with the IRS. On Form 8282, the charity reports information identifying the donor and itself, and the amount it received upon sale or other disposition of the vehicle. The charity must provide you with a copy of the form.

The chart on page 7 lists recordkeeping and filing requirements, based on the amount you claim as a deduction.

Definitions

Below are definitions of material improvement and significant intervening use as they apply to vehicle donations.

- Material improvement includes a major repair or improvement that results in a significant increase in the vehicle's value. Cleaning, minor repairs, and routine maintenance are not material improvements. In addition, a material improvement to the vehicle will not qualify if the donor funded the improvement by giving the charity an additional payment.
- Significant intervening use means that a charity must actually use the vehicle to substantially further its regularly conducted activities, and the use must be considerable. There is no significant intervening use if the charity's use is incidental or not intended at the time of the donation.

State Law Rules on Liability—Vehicle Title

Generally, state charity officials recommend that the donor take responsibility for transfer of title to ensure termination of liability for the vehicle. In most states, this involves filing a form with the state motor vehicle department which states that the vehicle has been donated. Before donating the vehicle, you should remove the license plates, unless state law requires otherwise. This may help you avoid any liability problems after the vehicle is transferred.

Assistance Through the Charity, Through State Officials, and Through the IRS

Charity Assistance

A charity must make available for public inspection its application for tax exemption, its determination letter, and its most recent annual information returns (Forms 990). A charity also must provide copies of these documents upon request (unless it makes the documents widely available). A charity may not charge you for inspecting the documents, but it may charge a reasonable fee for copying and mailing the documents.

Note: Certain charities, including churches, synagogues, and mosques, are not required to file exemption applications and annual information returns.

State Charity Official Assistance

Many states require charities that solicit contributions to register and file certain documents with a state charity regulator, such as the state attorney general or the secretary of state. Most charities must file in their state of incorporation and in other states where they have activities. Many of the state charity officials provide useful information about charities and fundraisers on Web sites and in brochures and publications.

A listing of state charity offices is available through the National Association of State Charity Officials at www.nasconet.org. A listing of state attorneys general is available through the National Association of Attorneys General at www.naag.org.

Contact your state charity official if you have a concern or complaint that a charity or fundraiser is not complying with state laws.

IRS Assistance

The IRS can answer your tax questions and can provide tax forms, publications, and other reading materials for further assistance. IRS materials are accessible through the Internet at www.irs.gov, through telephone ordering at (800) 829-3676, and at IRS walk-in offices in many areas across the country. The IRS also must make available the charity's application for tax exemption, determination letter, and Form 990.
