ENCLOSURE 3

PROCEDURES

1. RECORD FILE FORMAT. This enclosure presents the record file format for entering information about an alleged incident, and the military sponsor, victim, and alleged abuser associated with the incident. Tables 1 through 4 display the required format for each data field: numbers, field names, domains, coding instructions and remarks, record positions, and size for information.

a. Alleged Incident Information. Data to complete fields 1 through 15 of alleged incident information must be submitted for each alleged incident of child abuse and domestic abuse involving a member of a DoD Component and reported to a FAP of the Military Services. See Table 1 for formats of alleged abuser incident data fields.

(1) Field 1, Situation Identifier. An eight-digit number assigned to each reported incident alleging child abuse or domestic abuse. The first four digits refer to the fiscal year and the second four digits are taken from a unique subset of numbers assigned to each FAP by each Service FAPM. Incidents of alleged child abuse in which two or more children were the victims must be recorded as separate incidents for each child. This field is also known as “incident number.”

(2) Field 2, FAP Unit Identification Code (UIC). The unique alphanumeric code identifying the FAP where the incident was reported. This field is also known as the “geographical or unit identification (ID)”

(3) Field 3, U.S. State Alpha Code. A two-character alphabetical abbreviation designating the State in which an incident was reported. This field is also known as “State code.”

(4) Field 4, Country Code. A two-character alphabetical abbreviation designating the country in which an incident was reported. If there is a U.S. State code, leave the country code blank.

(5) Field 5, Incident Report Date. The calendar year date the incident was reported to the FAP.

(6) Field 6, Military Service Organization Code. The designation describing the Military Service (Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force) that received the report of an alleged incident for assessment and is submitting the report through the incident reporting system.

(7) Field 7, Organization Name Text. Completed when the Defense Logistics Agency or the National Security Agency received the alleged report.

(8) Field 8, Victim Type Code. The designation of whether a victim of an alleged incident is a child or an adult. This field is also known as “type of victim.”

(9) Field 9, Alleged Abuse Code. The designation of the category of alleged abuse reported as “emotional abuse,” “neglect,” “physical abuse,” or “sexual abuse.” This field is also known as “type of alleged abuse.”

(10) Field 10, Person Status Code. The designation of a child or an adult victim as alive or deceased because of the incident. This field is also known as “fatality occurred.” If no death occurred, designate “alive person.” If a death occurred, designate “deceased person.”

(11) Field 11, Deceased Victim Previously Known to the DoD Central Registry. A designation that the victim in the incident had or had not been previously reported to the DoD Central Registry as a victim of a previous incident of abuse with the same or different alleged abuser. Applies only when the victim dies as a result of the abusive incident. Child and adult victim fatalities are reportable to the DoD Central Registry as incidents. Field 11 assists the Office of the Secretary of Defense FAP in the fatality review process.

(12) Field 12, Alleged Abuser of Decedent Previously Known to the DoD Central Registry. A designation that the alleged abuser in the incident had or had not been previously reported to the DoD Central Registry as an alleged abuser with the same or different victim. Information on additional alleged abusers in fatalities is captured in fields 45 and 46 and is not entered as a separate incident involving the same victim. If the person allegedly responsible for the most severe abuse cannot be determined and the victim’s sponsor is an alleged abuser, the sponsor must be considered to be the alleged abuser. Applies only when the victim dies as a result of the abusive incident. Child and adult victim fatalities are reportable to the DoD Central Registry as incidents. Field 12 assists the Office of the Secretary of Defense FAP in the fatality review process.

(13) Field 13

(a) Field 13A, Situation Findings Date. The date the IDC determined whether an alleged incident of child abuse or domestic abuse met the relevant criteria for child abuse or domestic abuse for entry into the Service FAP central registry of child abuse and domestic abuse reports. This field is also known as “incident report status date.”

(b) Field 13B, Alleged Abuser Previously Known to the Submitting Service Central Registry. A designation that the alleged abuser in the incident that met criteria had or had not been previously reported to the submitting Service central registry as an alleged abuser in a met criteria incident with the same or different victim.

(c) Field 13C, Situation - Incident Did Not Meet Criteria for Abuse. This field was formerly known as “situation-incident unsubstantiated did not occur.” A designation by determination of the IDC indicating an alleged incident failed to meet the criteria for child abuse or domestic abuse for entry into the Service FAP central registry of child abuse and domestic abuse reports.

(d) Field 13D, Situation – Incident Did Not Meet Criteria for Abuse, Referred for Services. A designation indicating the incident was presented to the IDC for determination and did not meet criteria for abuse, but the clinical case staff meeting recommended voluntary prevention and intervention services in response to identified risk factors.

(e) Field 13E, Situation - Incident Met Criteria for Abuse. This field was formerly known as “incident substantiated.” A designation by determination of the IDC indicating an alleged incident has been determined by the IDC to meet the relevant criteria for child abuse or domestic abuse for entry into the Service FAP central registry of child abuse and domestic abuse reports.

(f) Field 13F, Situation - Incident Transferred In Date. The calendar date on which a FAP received an incident file already determined as “met criteria” from a FAP of the same or different Military Service. The receiving FAP will accept the previous installation IDC’s incident status determination.

(g) Field 13G, Situation - Incident Transferred Out Date. The calendar date on which a FAP sent an incident file reporting its IDC had determined the incident as “met criteria” to a FAP of the same or different Military Service.

(h) Field 13H, Situation - Incident Closed Date. The date a “met criteria” incident was closed by the FAP in accordance with Reference (b) and DoD Component policies implementing FAP standards for case closure. This field is also known as “incident closed date.”
