I. Introduction

This survey file contains data on state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia for fiscal year 1994. A state library agency is the official agency of a State charged by the law of that State with the extension and development of public library services throughout the State, which has adequate authority under law of the State to administer State plans in accordance with the provisions of the Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) (P.L. 101-254, as amended). The data were collected through the new State Library Agencies (STLA) Survey, the product of a cooperative effort between the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA), the U.S. National Commission on Libraries and Information Science (NCLIS), and National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). The survey is voluntary and will be conducted annually.<sup>1</sup>

Note: The file was previously released in June 1996. This revised file is identical except for the removal of selected items to comply with federal laws (see <http://nces.ed.gov/statprog/confid3.asp>) which cover the protection of the confidentiality of individually identifiable information collected by NCES.

Background

STLAs are increasingly receiving broader legislative mandates affecting libraries of all types in the states (i.e., public, academic, school, special, and library systems). For example, their administrative and developmental responsibilities under LSCA Title III (Interlibrary Cooperation and Resource Sharing) affect the operation of thousands of public, academic, school, and special libraries in the nation. STLAs provide important reference and information services to state government and administer the state library and special operations such as state archives, libraries for the blind and physically handicapped, and the State Center for the Book. The STLA also functions as the state's public library at large, providing service to the general public and state government employees.

Purpose of Survey

The STLA Survey will provide state and federal policymakers, researchers, and other interested users with descriptive information about STLAs in the 50 states and DC. Data on STLAs will complement NCES data collected regularly on public, academic, and school libraries; data collected occasionally on library systems, networks, and information centers; and the new Survey of Federal Libraries and Information Centers. The public library data collected by the STLA survey, when added to the data collected by the NCES Public Libraries Survey, will help complete the national picture of public library service. In summary, the STLA survey data will join the results of these other NCES data collections to provide a comprehensive, national profile of libraries and information services.

Congressional Authorization

NCES is the primary federal entity for collecting, analyzing, and reporting data related to education in the United States and other nations. It fulfills a congressional mandate to collect, collate, analyze, and report full and complete statistics on the condition of education in the United States; conduct and publish reports and specialized analyses of the meaning and significance of such statistics; assist state and local education agencies in improving their statistical systems; and review and report on education activities in foreign countries.

II. User's Guide

II. A. Survey Methodology

This survey file contains data on state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia for fiscal year 1994. The data were collected through the new State Library Agencies (STLA) Survey conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). The reporting unit for the survey is the state library agency.

Pretest of survey

The STLA Survey was designed and pretested under NCES contract by Keith Curry Lance, Director of The Library Research Service, State Library and Adult Education Office, Colorado Department of Education. The development of the survey was guided by the State Library Agencies Survey Steering Committee, a working group NCES established in conjunction with the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA) and the U.S. National Commission on Libraries and Information Science (NCLIS) to identify issues for which the survey would provide data, and to develop policies, parameters, data elements, definitions, and data presentation aspects of the survey.

NCES met with the steering committee in December 1992 and March 1993 for overall planning of the survey and to develop a list of items and issues that should be covered by the survey. A third meeting was held in August 1993 to review a draft survey developed by NCES and to discuss survey issues, design, content, and time lines with a contractor from the Colorado STLA employed by NCES to provide technical expertise and guidance in the project. Following the August 1993 meeting, the steering committee was consulted numerous times by mail, phone, and Internet for continued review and feedback of survey drafts.

Design of the pretest survey was completed in March of 1994 and mailed to the 9 STLAs comprising the pretest. All 9 STLAs responded to the pretest, with little or no difficulty. Several pretest states provided written comments which were useful in making final revisions to the data items and definitions.

Survey Software

The STLA survey is an electronic data collection form on diskette designed to reduce respondent burden and provide edited data upon submission, by mail or over the Internet. The software was designed as a user friendly and efficient tool for reporting and editing data, to encourage respondents to respond to the survey on a timely basis and provide as "clean" a file as possible. Respondents are alerted to questionable data during the data entry process through interactive, on-screen "error/warnings" which prompt them to revise the data, if appropriate. The software also provides error/warning reports of questionable data which can be viewed on-screen or printed. These features allow the respondent to submit an edited data file to NCES which requires minimal follow-up for data problems. A survey manual is provided with the software and contains the procedures for running the software, the error/warning messages and conditions, and the survey screens, definitions and instructions.

Mailout, Editing, and Follow-up

As previously indicated, the State Library Agencies (STLA) Survey data were collected on an electronic survey form. Before mailout of the survey, all numeric data cells were initialized with -2. The software does not permit a data file to be saved by a respondent if a -2 remains in any data cell. The survey respondent was instructed to answer -1 to any numeric item if they could not provide the data. Alpha-numeric items which are left blank indicate nonresponse (i.e., not reported or not applicable). Missing data are not imputed. A zero (0) is a reported response and indicates the STLA had none of the item.

The survey was mailed in mid-October, 1994 to the chief officers of state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia, with a due date of November 15, 1995. NCES contacted states regarding survey nonresponse in December 1995. The chief officer of the STLA, or a survey respondent designated by the chief officer, provided the data. The last state submission was received in mid-July, 1995. NCES conducted telephone follow-up of the states from June through September of 1995 to resolve questionable data on state files. An NCES contractor keyed the revisions and generated error/warning reports and state files for NCES's review.

After submissions were received from all 50 states and the District of Columbia and edited by NCES, a preliminary national file was generated. In addition, draft tables for the E.D. TABS: State Library Agencies, FY 1994 (an NCES publication, based on the data file, which is forthcoming) were generated in mid-October, 1995. The file was reviewed by NCES and the draft tables were reviewed by the STLA Steering Committee and NCES. Based on these reviews, NCES again contacted states to request verification or correction of questionable data. The last revisions to the file were made on December 15, 1995, and the final data file was created.

The STLA Survey software performs four types of data edit checks:

1. Relational edit checks. A data consistency check between related data elements. For example, an error message is generated if the STLA is designated as a Federal depository library but does not indicate the type of federal depository library.
2. Out-of-range edit checks. A comparison of data reported for an item to the "acceptable range" of values. For example, an error message is generated if annual Circulation per annual Library Visits is less than 0.5.
3. Arithmetic edit checks. An arithmetical accuracy check of a reported total and its parts to the generated total. For example, an error message is generated if Total Operating Expenditures is not equal to the sum of its parts (Total Staff Expenditures, Collection Expenditures, and Other Operating Expenditures).
4. Blank/zero/invalid edit checks. A check of reported data against acceptable values. For example, an error message is generated if Book/Serial Volumes is 0 or blank.

Survey Data Items

The survey collects data on 464 items, including governance, public service hours, number and types of service outlets, type and size of collections, library service transactions and development transactions, support of electronic information networks, allied operations, staff, and income and expenditures. Data are also collected on STLA services to public, academic, school, and special libraries, and to library systems. The data items and definitions are provided in the survey instrument at the end of the data base documentation.

To reduce response burden after the first year of data collection, future STLA surveys will be transmitted with "pre-entered" prior-year data for items that are not expected to change annually--all or some of Parts A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, or about 40 percent of the survey items. The respondent will be requested to review the pre-entered data and update any information that has changed.

Universe

The state library agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia (51 total) comprise the survey universe.

Response Rate

Unit Response. The FY 1994 STLA Survey achieved a 100 percent response rate.

Item Response. Most items had a 100 percent response rate. The following items had response rates below 100 percent:

95.0 - 99.0 percent response rate

006 - Zip + 4 (physical location address)

011 - Zip + 4 (mailing address)

092 - Audio materials

093 - Films

094 - Video materials

095 - Serial subscriptions

096 - Government documents

- 112 - Interlibrary loans received from other libraries/document delivery services
- 116 - On-site monitoring visits for LSCA/State grants

74.5 percent response rate

- 114 - Library visits

Reporting Period. The FY 1994 STLA Survey requested data for state fiscal year 1994, except for Part B (Governance) and Part J (Staff) data which were requested as of October 1, 1994. The fiscal year of most states is July 1 to June 30. Exceptions are New York (April 1 to March 31); Texas (September 1 to August 31); and Alabama, the District of Columbia, and Michigan (October 1 to September 30).

Using the Data to Make Comparisons. Caution should be exercised in making data comparisons because states may vary in their item response rates, fiscal year reporting periods, and adherence to survey definitions. The STLA data are not imputed for item nonresponse, so state and national totals may be underestimated for some items.

Data from the District of Columbia and Hawaii can be misleading, if the user is unaware of the unique circumstances of these two state library agencies. Unlike the other 49 agencies, each of these two operates all local public library outlets within its jurisdiction. The District of Columbia Public Library is a single metropolitan public library with several branches. In Hawaii, public library service is provided via a unique statewide system of which every local outlet is a branch. Both agencies already report much of the data included on this data file on the fiscal year 1994 data file for the NCES Public Libraries Survey (forthcoming).

Thus, data for the District of Columbia and Hawaii on this file frequently include data which, in other states, would be reported by local public libraries rather than the state library agency. The data which may be affected in this regard are the data on public service hours, outlets, collections, library service and development transactions, staff, income, and most expenditures (i.e., Parts F through M of the survey). Negotiations are in progress with these two agencies concerning the future reporting of these data.

II. B. Guidelines for Processing the State Library Agencies Survey Data File

The State Library Agencies (STLA) Survey data were collected on an electronic survey form. Before mailout of the survey, all numeric data cells were initialized with -2. The software does not permit a data file to be saved by a respondent if a -2 remains in any data cell. The survey respondent was instructed to answer -1 to a numeric item if they could not provide the data. Alpha-numeric items which are left blank on the file indicate nonresponse (i.e., not reported or not applicable). Missing data are not imputed. A zero (0) is a reported response and indicates the STLA had none of the item.

The data file is in MS-Access format; the file name is stla94b.mdb. The 'b' at the end of the data file name indicates that this file is version b of a previously released file (see note in Introduction for nature of revision). The record layout is provided in appendix A. This is the final data file. The Access file is also one record of fixed length for each StLA. Due to the record length, the file is split into three Access tables, as follows:

- stla94b_part 1 corresponds to survey Parts A to F (see list below);
- stla94b_part 2 corresponds to survey parts G to J (see list below);
- stla94b_part 3 corresponds to survey parts K to O (see list below).

Services to Libraries and Systems

- 048 Accreditation of libraries. The STLA may endorse or approve officially libraries which meet criteria specified by the State.
- 049 Administration of LSCA grants. Includes determining compliance with eligibility criteria and performance standards, overseeing processes through which grant recipients are determined, announcing grant recipients and disbursing funds, monitoring and receiving reports from grant recipients, submitting plans and reports to Library Programs, and other activities involved in the management of financial assistance provided by the federal government to libraries under the Library Services and Construction Act.
- 050 Administration of State aid. Includes determining compliance with eligibility criteria and performance standards, overseeing processes through which grant recipients are determined, announcing grant recipients and disbursing funds, monitoring and receiving reports from grant recipients, and other activities involved in the management of financial assistance provided by the State to libraries.

These qualifications may include a master's degree from a graduate program accredited by the American Library Association, another level or type of educational attainment, confirmation of participation in continuing education activities, and/or residency in the State for a specified period.
- 052 Collection of library statistics. Every STLA collects statistics on public libraries and participates in the Federal-State Cooperative System (FSCS) for Public Library Data. Many STLA's collect statistics on institutional and other special libraries. Some STLA's assist in the collection of academic library statistics for the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). A few STLA's collect statistics on school library media centers. These data collections usually involve the design and administration of survey instruments as well as data entry and processing and report design and dissemination.
- 053 Consulting services. Individual or small-group contacts to help libraries to attain goals and objectives and to deal with specific needs and problems. Consultants provide guidance on problems of concern to local personnel, assistance in identifying problems not clearly recognized, and identification of opportunities for increased or improved performance to specific groups.

- 062 Reference referral services. Provision of information about or from groups or organizations. A reference referral transaction involves the provision of information about a group or organization and its activities, services or agencies, and calendar. Such a transaction typically requires the determination of the user's need and the appropriate group or organization to meet the need. Such a transaction may require directing the user to persons or organizations external to the library for an answer to a question.

Outlets serving this user group provide books, other library materials, and access to other information resources as well as other library services to patients or residents of residential training schools, hospitals, nursing homes, and other general or special institutions operated or substantially supported by the State.
- 089 State government employees (executive, legislative, or judicial). Outlets serving this user group provide books, other library materials, and access to other information resources as well as other library services to employees of all branches of State government.
- 090 General public. Report all STLA outlets that serve the general public, regardless of whether they are open on a walk-in or referral basis. Outlets serving this user group function as the State-level equivalent of a local public library, providing books, other library materials, and electronic access to locally mounted and remote information resources for all State residents.

Appendix C—Survey Instrument (Data Entry Screens and Instructions)

PART G. COLLECTIONS

12. Enter in the spaces provided the total number of volumes or physical units in the specified formats in all STLA outlets (main or central, bookmobiles, and other outlets) that serve the general public and/or State government employees.

Note: Main or central outlet, bookmobiles, and other outlets (excluding bookmobiles) are defined in the instructions to question 10. Report collections for all STLA outlets that serve the general public, regardless of whether they are open on a walk-in or referral basis. Exclude data for a local public or academic library serving as a State resource center or State reference/information service center under contract with the STLA. Exclude collections of braille and talking books owned by the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress. Also exclude collections that are specifically intended to only serve residents of State correctional institutions or residents of other State institutions.

- 091 Book and serial volumes (exclude microforms). Books are non-periodical printed publications bound in hard or soft covers, or in loose-leaf format, of at least 49 pages, exclusive of the cover pages; or juvenile non-periodical publications of any length bound in hard or soft covers. Serials are publications issued in successive parts, usually at regular intervals, and as a rule, intended to be continued indefinitely. Serials include periodicals (magazines), newspapers, annuals (reports, yearbooks, etc.) memoirs, proceedings, and transactions of societies. Except for the current volume, count unbounded serials as volumes when the library has at least half of the issues in a publisher's volume.
- 092 Audio materials. These are materials on which sounds (only) are stored (recorded) and that can be reproduced (played back) mechanically or electronically, or both. Included are records, audiocassettes, audio cartridges, audiodiscs, audioreels, talking books, and other sound recordings.
- 093 Films. The term film is used interchangeably with "motion picture" which is a length of film with or without recorded sound, bearing a sequence of still images that create the illusion of movement when projected in rapid successions (usually 18 or 24 frames per second). Motion pictures are produced in a variety of sizes (8, super 8, 16, 35, 55, and 70 mm) and in a variety of forms (cartridge, cassette, loop, and reel).
- 094 Video materials. These are materials on which pictures, sound, or both are recorded. Electronic playback reproduces pictures, sounds, or both using a television receiver or monitor.
- 095 Serial subscriptions (titles, not individual issues) (exclude microforms). These include subscriptions received, both purchased and gifts. This count does not include the number of individual issues, but rather each serial title. Report the total number of titles subscribed to, including duplicates. Do not report individual issues.
- 096 Government documents (include only government documents not accessible through the library catalog and not reported elsewhere). For government documents not accessible through the library catalog and not reported on other lines, report the number of volumes or physical units of such materials in all formats. A government document is a publication in any format bearing a government imprint. Includes publications of federal, State, local, and foreign governments and intergovernmental organizations to which governments belong and appoint representatives (e.g., United Nations, Organization of American States).

Appendix C—Survey Instrument (Data Entry Screens and Instructions)

13. Enter <Y>es or <N>o for this item to indicate whether the STLA maintains a general collection (fiction and/or nonfiction).
- 097 General collection.
14. Enter <Y>es or <N>o for each item to indicate whether the STLA maintains a special collection (i.e., at the support, research, or comprehensive level of collection development) in a subject area.

Note: The American Library Association and the Association of Research Libraries' North American Collections Inventory Project identifies five levels of collection development. A special collection is a group of materials in a subject area that are selected and maintained at the support, research, or comprehensive level. Do not report collections selected and maintained at the basic level or minimal level as special collections. The five collection levels are defined below.

Collection Levels

Comprehensive level. A collection in which a library endeavors, so far as is reasonably possible, to include all significant works of recorded knowledge (publications, manuscripts, periodicals, other forms) for a necessarily defined field. The aim, if not the achievement, is exhaustiveness.

Research level. A collection which includes the major source materials required for governmental, professional, and independent research, including seminal works, materials containing research reporting, new findings, scientific experimental results, and other information useful to researchers. It includes all important reference works, a wide selection of specialized monographs, as well as a very extensive collection of journals and major indexing and abstracting services in the field.

Support level. A collection intended to support legislative and governmental interests and programs, network responsibilities, and sustained independent study. It is adequate to maintain knowledge of a subject required for limited or generalized purposes of less than research intensity. It includes a wide range of basic monographs, complete collections of the works of primary writers, selections from the works of secondary or controversial writers, a selection of representative journals, and the reference tools and fundamental bibliographical works pertaining to the subject.

Basic level. A collection of materials which will introduce and define a subject and indicate the varieties of information available elsewhere. It may include major dictionaries and encyclopedias, selected editions of important works, general surveys, important bibliographies, handbooks, and a few major periodicals. A collection developed at this level is not sufficiently intense to support government programs or independent study in the subject area involved. It may, however, include strong retrospective holdings in subject areas that were, at one time, a higher priority of the STLA.

Minimal level. A subject area in which few selections are made beyond very basic works.
