State Library Administrative Agency Survey, Fiscal Year 2014

Data File Documentation and User's Guide

Introduction

The State Library Administrative Agency Survey (SLAA) is a voluntary survey conducted biennially by the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS). The SLAA Survey collects data on state library administrative agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia. IMLS collects these data under the mandate in the Museum and Library Services Act of 2010 (P.L. 111-340) as stated in Section 210. The American Institutes for Research (AIR) is the data collection agent for IMLS. The survey is a cooperative effort of the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA); the American Institutes for Research (AIR), the data collection agent; and IMLS. The Fiscal Year (FY) 2014 survey is the 19th in the series.

This user's guide provides detailed information on data that were collected through the SLAA Survey FY 2014.¹ The survey was put on a biennial administration schedule beginning with the FY 2010 survey; before that, it was administered annually.²

The data file includes all state library administrative agencies (SLAAs) in the 50 states and the District of Columbia. The reporting unit for the survey is the SLAA.

Background

A state library administrative agency is the official agency in a state charged by state law with the extension and development of public library services throughout the state. In addition to their critical role in assessing, planning, and coordinating library services and resources, state library administrative agencies may provide important reference and information services to the state government; administer the state library or serve as the state archives; operate libraries for the blind and physically handicapped; and support the State Center for the Book. In some states, the state library administrative agency may also function as the public library at large, providing library services to the general public.

A state library administrative agency has adequate authority under state law to administer state plans in accordance with the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) (PL. 111-340), passed in December 2010. The data in this publication were reported under the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) (PL. 104-208).

¹ The President's budget request for IMLS administrative costs includes funds for the Public Libraries Survey and the SLAA Survey. Please click for additional information.

² Through the FY 2010 survey administration, the SLAA Survey was known as the State Library Agency (StLA) Survey.

Purpose of Survey

The purpose of the SLAA Survey is to provide state and federal policymakers and other interested users with information about state library administrative agencies. The data collected are useful to chief officers of state library administrative agencies; policymakers in the executive and legislative branches of federal and state governments; government and library administrators at the federal, state, and local levels; decision-makers who use this survey to obtain information about services and fiscal practices; the American Library Association and its members or customers; library and public policy researchers; and the public, journalists, and others. The data collected on services provided by state library administrative agencies to public, academic, school, and special libraries, as well as library cooperatives—when combined with the data collected by the IMLS Public Libraries Survey and the National Center for Education Statistics surveys of academic and school libraries—provide a picture of library service that is comprehensive and nationwide in scope.

Legislative Authorization

MLS collects these data under the mandate in the Museum and Library Services Act of 2010 (PL. 111-340) as stated in Section 210 (20 U.S.C. § 9108 – Policy Research, Analysis, Data Collection, and Dissemination).

Sec. 9108. Policy Research, Analysis, Data Collection, and Dissemination

(a) In general

The Director shall annually conduct policy research, analysis, and data collection to extend and improve the Nation’s museum, library, and information services.

(b) Requirements

The policy research, analysis, and data collection shall be conducted in ongoing collaboration (as determined appropriate by the Director), and in consultation, with –

- (1) State library administrative agencies;
- (2) national, State, and regional library and museum organizations;
- (3) other relevant agencies and organizations.

(c) Objectives

The policy research, analysis, and data collection shall be used to –

- (1) identify national needs for and trends in museum, library, and information services;
- (2) measure and report on the impact and effectiveness of museum, library, and information services throughout the United States, including the impact of Federal programs authorized under this Act;
- (3) identify best practices; and
- (4) develop plans to improve museum, library, and information services of the United States and to strengthen national, State, local, regional, and international communications and cooperative networks.

IMLS library research activities are conducted in ongoing collaboration with state library administrative agencies and other relevant agencies and organizations to extend and improve the nation’s library and information services. The SLAA Survey is designed to provide consistent, reliable, complete, and accurate indicators of the status and trends of state and public libraries; and to report timely, useful, and high-quality data to the U.S. Congress, the states, other education policymakers, practitioners, data users, and the general public.

User's Guide to SLAA Data

Survey Methodology

Survey Universe

The survey universe comprises the state library administrative agencies in the 50 states and the District of Columbia (51 total).

The respondents for the SLAA FY 2014 Survey were employed by states at each of the SLAAs. Chief Officers of each of the SLAAs assigned respondents to provide data for the survey. Data were entered by the respondents and certified by the Chief Officers.

Web-Based Data Collection Tool and Questionnaire

The SLAA FY 2014 Survey data were collected in English over the Internet via a web-based reporting system. The web application included a user's guide and tutorial that explain its features and operation, the survey questionnaire, and a data edit check tool designed to alert respondents to anomalies or inconsistencies in their data entries. The web application was designed to minimize response burden, to improve data quality and timeliness, and to ensure that minimal edit follow-up would be required with state agencies to resolve data problems.

The FY 2014 survey collected data on 356 items.³ The survey is made up of 13 parts (Table 1). Data items and definitions are provided in the survey questionnaire and the instructions for completing survey items. Additional information on the questionnaire is in Appendix C.

Part M	Electronic Services and Information

³ All subtotals and totals in the survey were automatically generated from the detail and thus are not included in this number.

Reporting Period

The SLAA FY 2014 Survey requested that respondents report data for state FY 2014. For the items in Part B (Governance) and Part I (Staff), respondents were requested to report data as of October 1, 2014. The fiscal year for most states was July 1, 2013, to June 30, 2014. There were six SLAAs which had fiscal years with different start and end dates. The exceptions were:

- New York (April 1, 2013, to March 31, 2014);
- Texas (September 1, 2013, to August 31, 2014); and
- Alabama, the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Michigan (October 1, 2013, to September 30, 2014).

Survey Response Rate

Unit Response

The SLAA FY 2014 Survey achieved a 100 percent unit response rate.⁴ A response is considered complete if it includes responses for at least three of the five following items: total staff, total revenue, total expenditures, total book and serial volumes, and total circulation transactions.

Item Response

Item response rates were calculated by dividing the total number of state library administrative agencies reporting data for an item by the total number of state library administrative agencies in the survey universe. Item-level response rates ranged from 94 to 100 percent. The lowest item response rate in the SLAA FY 2014 Survey was 94 percent. Appendix D provides additional information on item response rates.

Data Collection and Processing

Data Collection

The SLAA FY 2014 Survey was opened for data entry to state library administrative agencies via the web-based tool beginning on January 12, 2015. The survey data collection was closed on March 27, 2015. AIR was the data processing agent for the survey and administered the web application, provided technical support to respondents, performed edit and nonresponse follow-up, and produced the data files and tabulations.

To reduce response burden, the survey was transmitted with prior-year data pre-entered for survey items that were not expected to change from the prior administration. The respondent was asked to review the pre-entered data and to update any information that had changed since the FY 2012 survey administration. All other data cells were left blank for the respondent to complete. If the respondent could not provide data for a numeric item, the web application required a response of -1 to be entered. All alphanumeric items required a response, except those that logically followed a skip pattern. The respondent could not submit the data unless these conditions were met.

⁴ The American Association for Public Opinion Research. 2015. "Standard Definitions: Final Dispositions of Case Codes and Outcome Rates for Surveys." 8th edition. AAPOR.

A zero (0) is a reported response to a numeric item and indicates that the state library administrative agency had none of the items in question.

Missing data were imputed. Additional information on the imputation methodology used for this survey is in the section on Data Processing.

Data Processing

To ensure accuracy, data were checked during data collection and post-processing. In addition, data were imputed for missing values.

Edit Checks During Data Collection

A function of the web-based data collection tool alerted the respondent to possible errors in the data during the data entry process through interactive edit check warnings. The respondent was required to address these warnings through an edit check report, which could be viewed on screen or printed. The edit check tool enabled the respondent to submit an edited data file to IMLS that usually required minimal follow-up to resolve data problems. The edit check tool included the following three types of edits:

- Relational edit checks. Data consistency check between related data elements. For example, an edit message was generated if the state library administrative agency was designated as a federal depository library but the respondent did not enter data for the item on the type of federal depository library.
- Out-of-range edit checks. Comparison of data reported for an item to the “acceptable range” of numeric values. For example, an edit message was generated if the respondent entered a value less than 0.5 for annual circulation transactions per annual library visits.
- Blank/zero/invalid edit checks. Check of reported data against acceptable values. For example, an edit message was generated if the respondent entered a value of 0 for the data element on the number of book/serial volumes.

Respondents were required to address all edit check warnings in the web-based data collection tool prior to submitting (or “locking”) their data.

Post-Edit Processing

After respondents locked their data, AIR performed additional edit checks or post-edit processing on the data (e.g., a comparison of the sum of the reported detail to a reported total). If a state library administrative agency’s data failed any post-edit tests, AIR delivered an edit report to the respondent for further data editing and cleaning. Respondents were asked either to correct the data or to verify the data as correct, and then they were asked to return the report to AIR. AIR analysts incorporated the edited data into the respondent’s data file and reran all post-edit tests, working in an iterative fashion until all post-edit data checks were resolved.

Meta-Data Warehouse

Information received from states during the edit-check warning process and the post-edit process was archived to create a meta-data warehouse. IMLS and AIR reviewed these meta-data in order to select information that may be useful to analysts. For edit check and post-edit metadata, see Appendix E—Survey and State Notes.

Imputation

Data submitted by respondents for processing do not always include responses for every data item. Because analysts need complete datasets to construct estimates of totals, it was necessary to impute values for missing data items. Different imputation methods were used to fill in the missing data.

Data are identified either as imputed or reported in the survey data file through the use of imputation flags (Table 2). In the data file, flags are represented as the variable name followed by “_F”. For example: TOTHRF is the flag for TOTHR, which is data item 077A.

Table 2. FY 2014 SLAA Imputation Method Flags and Definitions

Flag	Definition
R	Reported
S	Not applicable, skipped
C ¹	Missing total value calculated by summing reported details
G	Missing value imputed through growth rate applied to prior data collection value
K ¹	Missing value imputed through raking from imputed total
T	Missing total value imputed by summing imputed details
Z	Missing value imputed as zero because prior data collection value was zero

¹These imputation methods were introduced into the SLAA Survey starting with the FY 2012 data collection. NOTE: To remove all imputed values from the data, the values of variables that have imputation flags of C, G, K, T, or Z should be removed.

The SLAA FY 2014 Survey employed these imputation methodologies:

- The Zero Rule (Z). If a state did not report a value for FY 2014 and the value for FY 2012 was zero, then the value for FY 2014 was also set to zero. This rule was applied on the assumption that there had been no change since FY 2012. The zero in FY 2012 could be an imputed value.
- The Growth Rule (G). If a state did not report a value for FY 2014 and the value for FY 2012 was greater than zero, growth rates from FY 2010 to FY 2014 were calculated for all states that reported data in both years. The median of the growth rates was also calculated. The imputed value for FY 2014 is the median growth rate multiplied by the FY 2012 data. Although imputed prior-year data are excluded from the growth rate calculations, the growth rule can be applied to prior-year data that have been imputed.

- The Sum Rule (T). When the details of a total and the total were missing, the details were imputed by the zero rule, growth rule, or regression modeling rule. The imputed details were then summed to give the total.
- The Raking Procedure (K). In some cases, imputing a state's data using the growth rule and the sum rule resulted in estimates that did not trend with the national average. For example, using the growth rule and sum rule resulted in some estimates that trended at an increase of over 300 percent from the prior year, whereas the national average of increase from the prior year was under 20 percent. In these cases, the raking procedure was performed by imputing a state's total using the growth rule and then imputing the associated details of that total by raking, or distributing, the imputed total to the details based on the median relationship between the total and the associated details for states that reported data in both years. The raking procedure was introduced for the FY 2012 data. No data were imputed using the raking procedure for the FY 2014 collection.
- Sum of Internal-Detail Reported Rule (C). This method was applied in those cases where a state reported all of the details of a related total, but not the total itself.
- Regression Modeling. Regression modeling uses auxiliary items that are reported by all states. The missing value is replaced with the regression-predicted value. Regression modeling is used for those variables for which states are unable to report a prior-year value. There was no need to use regression modeling to impute missing data in the FY 2014 file.

Nonsampling Error

Because all units in the universe were surveyed, these data are not subject to sampling error. However, the data are subject to nonsampling error, such as errors in response, nonresponse errors, and processing errors. Every effort is made to mitigate such errors. The editing efforts described above are designed to decrease the number of errors due to inaccurate responses or processing problems. Imputation lessens the effect of nonresponse.

Using the Data

The SLAA Public Use Data file

IMLS provides one public use data file for this survey (slaa2014). The data file is provided in multiple formats: SAS (.sas7bdat), comma-delimited (.csv), and ASCII (.txt) file formats. Read-in code is available to convert the ASCII file to SPSS and Stata formats. The SLAA FY 2014 public use data file consists of 51 records (observations), one record for each state library administrative agency. The data file has 724 variables, including imputation flags.

Comparisons of FY 2014 Data to Prior Year Data

Missing data were imputed beginning with the FY 1999 survey. Data users should take into consideration that items that include imputations are not strictly comparable to data from surveys prior to FY 1999.

State comparisons should be made with caution because states vary in their fiscal year reporting periods and may vary in their interpretation of the survey items. Similarly, the District of Columbia, although not a state, is included in the survey. Caution should be used in comparing data for a city to data for a state.

Changes to FY 2014 data collection

The following changes occurred between the FY2012 and the FY2014 data collection.

1. Questions were removed:

- LSTA state program expenditures by use [194, 195,196,197,198].
- OCLC Group Access Capability (GAC) [60].
- Retrospective conversion of bibliographic records [63].
- Union list development [69].

2. Questions were replaced or clarified:

- Literacy program support [59].
- Administration of LSTA grants [49] was replaced with two questions that specifically clarifies the two types of administration which are: LSTA state program grants [75] and LSTA Statewide Services [76].

3. Questions were added:

- Administration of library system support [71]
- Involvement in the acquisition of other federal program funds [72]
 - If yes, [72.1] which federal agencies other than IMLS do you apply for funding from?
- Statewide reading programs [73]
 - If yes, [73.1] do you support the following target populations for statewide reading promotion campaigns?
- State wide resource sharing [74]

4. Follow-up questions were added to existing questions:

These questions appeared to the respondent only if the respondent answered affirmatively to questions 53 or 59.

- 53.1. Which of the following consulting services do you provide?
- 59.1. Which of the following types of literacy programs do you support?

Note: An allied operation is an office, bureau, division, center, or other organizational unit or service within an SLAA with staff, mission, and resources to provide service not ordinarily considered a State Library Administrative Agency function. It is characterized by having:

- (a) a specific mission, which may be a part of the SLAA's overall mission statement;
- (b) staff assigned for that mission; that staff usually includes professionals other than librarians (such as historians, archivists, curators, etc.) appropriate to its mission;
- (c) a high-level manager or supervisor who reports to the SLAA chief officer or to a deputy designated by the chief officer;
- (d) Financial resources clearly identified and managed for the operation.

- 041 Primary State legislative research organization. This operation conducts research and gathers, digests, and analyzes information in a close and confidential relationship with members of the State legislature and their staff.

Services provided by contract by the SLAA are those provided by a third party or intermediary under legal contract to the SLAA.

6. Enter in the spaces provided the total hours open in a typical week for all SLAA outlets (main or central, bookmobiles, and other outlets), regardless of whom they serve. Do not report an allied operations outlet as an SLAA outlet. Example: If the SLAA has a main outlet with no bookmobile or other outlets and is open for public service 40 hours in a typical week, report 40 hours. If the SLAA has a main outlet, a bookmobile, and two other outlets open 40, 20, 35, and 35 hours, respectively, in a typical week, report 130 hours (40+20+35+35=130 hours per typical week).

Note: Main or central outlet, bookmobiles, and other outlets (excluding bookmobiles) are defined in the instructions to question 8. Report total hours open in a typical week for all SLAA outlets, regardless of whom they serve, and regardless of whether they are open on a walk-in or referral basis. Exclude data for a local public or academic library serving as a State resource center or State reference/information service center under contract with the SLAA. Do not report data for non-SLAA outlets, even though the SLAA may provide funding or services to such outlets.

A “typical week” is a time that is neither unusually busy nor unusually slow. Avoid holidays, vacation periods, and days when unusual events are taking place in the community or in the library. Choose a week in which the library is open its regular hours. Include seven consecutive calendar days from Sunday through Saturday or whenever the library is usually open.

- Note: Main or central outlet is defined in the instructions to question 8. Report public service hours for the main or central SLAA outlet, regardless of whether the outlet is open on a walk-in or referral basis. Exclude data for a local public or academic library serving as a State resource center or State reference/information service center under contract with the SLAA. Exclude service hours if the outlet only serves blind and physically handicapped individuals through the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress. - Note: An SLAA outlet has regular hours of service in which SLAA staff are present to serve its users. The staff and all service costs are paid by the SLAA as part of its regular operation. A loan of books or total collections (whether permanent or short-term) to another agency, library, or school does not constitute an SLAA outlet inasmuch as it is not administered and staffed by the SLAA.
- 082 Main or central outlet. A single unit library or the unit where the principal collections are located and handled.

Note: An SLAA administrative center which is separate from the principal collections and is not open to users should not be included as an outlet. Appendix E—Survey and State Notes from the State Library Administrative Agency Data File

Notes about specific state library administrative agencies

The state library administrative agencies in Hawaii, Maryland, and the District of Columbia are administrative offices only; they do not have collections. In Hawaii, the main library of the Hawaii State Public Library System is the Hawaii State Library. In Maryland, state law designates the Enoch Pratt Free Library's central library as the Maryland State Library Resource Center. In the District of Columbia, the Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Library, the central library of the District of Columbia Public Library, functions as a resource center for the municipal government. Information for these collections is reported in the IMLS Public Libraries Survey.

State Notes on Data

The following state notes detail known anomalies for specific states and comments for data users to consider as they use the SLAA data for analysis and reporting. The information was obtained by reviewing each state's edit report.
