

There is a low-end chance for light freezing rain late tonight through early Tuesday morning!

This map shows the probability of 0.05 inches of ice accumulation between 1 AM and 7 AM Tuesday

Key Messages

- ✓ An area of precipitation will overspread central NC from the south late tonight and into the day on Tuesday.
- ✓ The bulk of precipitation will fall as rain over the southern Coastal Plain counties, where temperatures will be above freezing.
- ✓ However, the precipitation may begin as a couple hours of light freezing rain or drizzle across parts of central NC.
- ✓ Probabilities of receiving a light glaze (up to 0.05") of ice accumulation early Tuesday morning have decreased.
- ✓ Impacts may include patchy icy spots on roads and especially bridges.

Percent (%)

5 10 20 30 40 50 60 70 80 90 100

