

U.S. ARMY FUTURES COMMAND

Lieutenant General David M. Hodne

Deputy Commanding General and Future and Concepts Center Director

Lt. Gen. David M. Hodne leads the development of future concepts, requirements and experimentation to support continuous Army transformation.

Hodne commissioned into the Army as an infantry officer upon graduating from the United States Military Academy in 1991. He has since led Ranger, Stryker, Cavalry, Mechanized and Light Infantry formations, commanding at every echelon from Company through Division. His recent roles including Commanding General of the 4th Infantry Division and Fort Carson, Colorado, and Director of the AFC Soldier Lethality Cross-Functional Team.

Hodne holds advanced degrees in aerospace engineering and military studies, is a graduate of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College and completed a U.S. Army War College Fellowship at Georgetown University.