Silverton at Cascadia is a health-and-rehabilitation center offering independent living, assisted living, rehab and a skilled nursing facility all on one beautiful campus that sits on a mountainside in Silverton, Idaho. The views, like those pictured above and below, are breathtaking. ITD's Public Transportation section is involved with this great organization through a grant-funded van used by the staff to take residents to run errands or any other essential business.

The independent living offers single bedroom apartments, they have kitchens but, they are also welcome in the dining room for any meals they wish. The assisted living rooms are private rooms with a kitchenette, equipped with a safety assistance/call system. Anyone in an assisted living room is set up with a custom plan to focus on any rehabilitation goals or needs they may have.

By providing these different levels of service all under one roof. It makes the transition from one style of living to another easier for everyone. Silverton works with families and residents to assess their level of care.
