ORDER

Adopted: May 14, 2020

Released: May 14, 2020

By the Chief, Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau:

1. With this Order, on our own motion, the Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau (Bureau) of the Federal Communications Commission (Commission) extends through June 30, 2020, the temporary waivers recently granted by the Bureau of certain rules governing the Telecommunications Relay Service (TRS).¹ On our own motion, we also temporarily waive two additional TRS rules to facilitate the ability of Internet Protocol Relay (IP Relay) service providers to offer service from home workstations during the national COVID-19 emergency² and of registered Video Relay Service (VRS) users to make calls from outside the United States, effective from the release date of this Order through June 30, 2020.³

2. Extension of Previously Granted Waivers. In the March 16 TRS Waiver Order and the April 3 TRS Waiver Order, the Bureau found good cause to temporarily waive certain rules governing TRS to ensure the uninterrupted availability of TRS during the extraordinary circumstances presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. We found that increased TRS traffic levels and reduced call center staffing severely challenged TRS providers' ability to answer and process all TRS calls and the ability of persons with speech and hearing disabilities to communicate using TRS. Those orders are effective through May

Mar. 16, 2020) (temporarily waiving multiple TRS rules to ensure continued services at increased demand levels during COVID-19 emergency) (March 16 TRS Waiver Order); Telecommunications Relay Services and Speech-to-Speech Services for Individuals with Hearing and Speech Disabilities; Structure and Practices of the Video Relay Service Program, CG Docket Nos. 03-123 and 10-51, Order, DA 20-378 (CGB rel. Apr. 3, 2020) (temporarily waiving rule restricting VRS providers from contracting for interpretation services with non-VRS certified entities during COVID-19 emergency) (April 3 TRS Waiver Order).

3. At this time, the national emergency continues, and “stay-at-home” and “social distancing” restrictions remain in effect in many state and local jurisdictions, with uncertain timetables for their removal.⁶ Federal, state, and local governments are still engaged in planning how they will allow schools, businesses, and localities to reopen. TRS providers, which report continuing higher levels of calling and longer call durations, assert that the waivers granted by the Bureau “have been essential to ensuring uninterrupted service for hundreds of thousands of Americans with hearing loss during the current COVID-19 crisis.”⁷ Given the absence of material change in the circumstances justifying grant of these waivers, the absence of any evidence of abuse, and the vital importance of providing robust, reliable TRS for persons who are deaf, hard of hearing, or deafblind, or have speech disabilities, and consistent with other Commission actions related to the pandemic,⁸ we find good cause to extend the previously-granted TRS rule waivers through June 30, 2020.

4. IP Relay 911 Waiver. We grant a temporary waiver of a provision of the emergency call handling rules for IP Relay.⁹ Section 9.14(b)(2)(v) of the Commission’s rules provides that, when an Internet-based TRS provider is handling a 911 call, and one or both “legs” of the call are disconnected, the provider must immediately reestablish contact with a 911 caller and/or the Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP), as applicable, and resume handling the call.¹⁰ Like other TRS providers, the current IP Relay provider is seeking to meet the exigencies of the COVID-19 emergency by moving its communications assistants (CAs) from call centers to home workstations.¹¹ However, due to the way that IP Relay service is currently configured, CAs working at home may not have access to the technical capabilities needed to reestablish both legs of a call.

5. We find good cause to waive section 9.14(b)(2)(v) during this emergency period, to address the technical issues faced by IP Relay CAs working at home, as we do not believe the waiver will pose any increased risk to the safety of IP Relay users. The reconnection requirement was adopted in 2008, before the Commission required the assignment of 10-digit telephone numbers to IP Relay users.¹²

⁹ IP Relay is a form of TRS “that permits an individual with a hearing or a speech disability to communicate in text using an Internet Protocol-enabled device via the Internet, rather than using a text telephone (TTY) and the public switched telephone network.” 47 CFR § 64.601(a)(20). There is currently only one provider of IP Relay service.

¹⁰ 47 CFR § 9.14(b)(2)(v) (formerly section 64.605(a)(2)(v)). Call-handling rules for TRS 911 calls were relocated to part 9 from part 64 of the Commission’s rules in 2019. Implementation of Kari’s Law and Section 506 of RAY BAUM’s Act; Inquiry Concerning Access, Routing, and Location in Enterprise Communications Systems; Amending the Definition of Interconnected VoIP Service in Section 9.3 of the Commission’s Rules, PS Docket Nos. 18-261 and 17-239 and GN Docket No. 11-117, Report and Order, 34 FCC Rcd 6607, 6687-90, paras. 207-16 (2019).

¹¹ See March 16 TRS Waiver Order at para. 2.

Because IP Relay providers are required to transmit that number to the PSAP at the initiation of a 911 call,¹³ the PSAP is able to immediately reconnect a disconnected IP Relay call, “render[ing] it unnecessary for the [IP Relay] provider to be involved in reconnecting disconnected 911 calls.”¹⁴

6. International VRS Calls. To ensure that all registered Video Relay Service (VRS) users have access to service during the COVID-19 emergency, we modify the previously granted temporary waiver of section 64.604(a)(7) of the Commission’s rules, which generally prohibits compensation for VRS calls originating from a foreign IP address.¹⁵ The rule only exempts calls placed to the United States by U.S. residents who preregister with their default VRS providers, before leaving the country, to make such calls for a specified period of up to 4 weeks.¹⁶ In the March 16 TRS Waiver Order, we temporarily waived this rule with respect to registered VRS users who preregistered and overstayed their specified period of travel.¹⁷ We now extend this waiver to cover registered VRS users who left the United States on or before the date of this Order without first preregistering for international calling with their default VRS provider. As a result of the pandemic, it appears that there are some registered VRS users who traveled abroad without preregistering to use VRS while away, who have no ready means to return to the United States, and who now have a need to communicate with family, friends, and other contacts in the United States even though their original travel plans did not contemplate making VRS calls. Given the applicability of other safeguards against fraud and abuse, whereby VRS providers can confirm the identity of callers even if they did not pre-register to make international calls to the United States before leaving the United

In granting a temporary waiver of the reconnection requirement, in analogous circumstances, for providers of certain kinds of Internet Protocol Captioned Telephone Service (IP CTS), the Commission found that circumstances had changed since the rule was adopted, and that transmission of a user’s telephone number to the PSAP enables a disconnected 911 call to be reconnected more quickly and effectively by the PSAP than by the TRS provider. Id. at 714, paras. 49-50.

¹⁶ See id. § 64.604(a)(7). The Report and Order adopting the rule explained that the time period permitted would be no more than four weeks. Structure and Practices of the Video Relay Service Program, CG Docket No. 10-51, Report and Order and Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, 26 FCC Rcd 5545, 5564, para. 32 n.105 (2011) (2011 VRS Fraud Prevention Order).

¹⁷ See March 16 TRS Waiver Order at para. 5.

States, we believe that modifying the previously granted emergency waiver to cover such users will not cause an appreciably increased risk of unauthorized international VRS calling.¹⁸

7. Accordingly, we find good cause to modify the previously granted temporary waiver of the international calling prohibition to permit VRS users to place calls to the United States from abroad during the emergency waiver period, as long as the user is registered in the TRS-URD, and the call is otherwise compensable by the TRS Fund.

8. We remain committed to the integrity of the TRS program, to guarding against waste, fraud, and abuse, and to ensuring that funds disbursed through the TRS program are used for appropriate purposes. We find that the overwhelming public interest in ensuring the continued availability of TRS services during this national emergency justifies grant of the temporary waivers of sections 9.14(b)(2)(v) and 64.604(a)(7) and to allow these waivers and those granted in the March 16 TRS Waiver Order and April 3 TRS Waiver Order to remain in effect through June 30, 2020. The Bureau will continue to monitor the emergency situation and will consider and take additional actions as warranted. In the event that the circumstances described in this Order appear likely to persist beyond the expiration of the current waiver period, we will address in a further order any necessary extension of any of the temporary waivers granted in the March 16 TRS Waiver Order, the April 3 TRS Waiver Order, and this Order.

11. Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that, pursuant to sections 1, 2, 4(i), 4(j), and 225 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. §§ 151, 152, 154(i), 154(j), 225, and sections 0.141, 0.361, and 1.3 of the Commission's rules, 47 CFR §§ 0.141, 0.361, 1.3, sections 9.14(b)(2)(v) and 64.604(a)(7) of the Commission's rules are WAIVED to the extent described herein, and the temporary waivers granted in the March 16 TRS Waiver Order, the April 3 TRS Waiver Order, and this Order shall remain in effect through June 30, 2020.

12. IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, pursuant to section 1.102(b)(1) of the Commission rules, 47 CFR § 1.102(b)(1), this Order SHALL BE EFFECTIVE upon release.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

Patrick Webre, Chief
Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau

¹⁸ The international calling prohibition was adopted to ensure that only known VRS users would be able to make international calls from abroad to the United States. 2011 VRS Fraud Prevention Order, 26 FCC Rcd at 5564, para. 32 (citing examples of fraudulent VRS calls placed from international points, e.g., by individuals with little or no fluency in ASL, and in which no conversations were relayed). Since the adoption of this rule, the Commission has required preregistration of all VRS users in a central database, the TRS User Registration Database (TRS-URD), where their identity and residence in the United States must be verified by the administrator. See 47 CFR § 64.611 (TRS-URD requirements). This user registration requirement, with stringent vetting of the registrants by the TRS-URD administrator, provides additional assurance that fraudulent VRS calls from outside of the United States would be recognized as such by the VRS provider and the TRS Fund administrator. See also 47 CFR §§ 64.604(c)(iii)(D)-(L) (requiring the submission of call data with payment requests and providing for review of all such requests).
