CHAIRWOMAN ROSENWORCEL ANNOUNCES TERM EXTENSION OF THE COMMISSION'S INTERGOVERNMENTAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Chairwoman Jessica Rosenworcel announces the extension of the term of the Federal Communications Commission's Intergovernmental Advisory Committee ("IAC" or "Committee") by two months. The term of the 2020-2022 IAC¹ currently is set to expire on September 22, 2022, but now will be extended to November 22, 2022. This extension will allow the IAC to engage in the orderly completion of its work for this term.

The IAC provides guidance, expertise, and recommendations to the Commission on a range of communications issues for which state, local, Tribal and Territorial governments explicitly or inherently share responsibility or administration with the Commission. The IAC has been an important source of information and guidance to the Commission over the past 20 years and the extension will provide additional time to further its contributions to the FCC.

Pursuant to the "intergovernmental communication" exemption of UMRA,² the IAC is not subject to, and is not required to follow, the procedures set forth in the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA), 5 U.S.C. App 2 (1988).³
