

Office of the Texas Governor Child Sex Trafficking Team

Greetings,

Welcome to the Child Sex Trafficking Team (CSTT)'s March Newsletter. Bluebonnets can finally be seen across Texas! As nature renews this spring, so do our efforts to become a state where children and youth are truly free from sexual exploitation.

In this newsletter, you will find information about Child Abuse Prevention Month and Sexual Assault Awareness & Prevention Month, an exciting community spotlight out of West Texas, federal funding announcements, training opportunities, information about Crime Victims' Rights Week, publications from Polaris and the Human Trafficking Institute, and a wide array of resources.

As always, we are incredibly grateful for the work you do on behalf of children and youth impacted by exploitation. Together, we will cultivate a safer and brighter future for Texas.

Sincerely,

The CSTT

Child Abuse Prevention Month and Sexual Assault Awareness & Prevention Month

April is around the corner, as is our observance of Child Abuse Prevention Month and Sexual Assault Awareness & Prevention Month. There are strong intersections between child sex trafficking, child abuse, and sexual assault.

- Child sex trafficking is a form of child abuse, and is codified as such under Section 261.001 of the Texas Family Code.
- Child sexual abuse increases vulnerability to exploitation. The National Survivor Study, published by Polaris in 2023, found that of 450 trafficking survivors surveyed, a staggering 84% experienced sexual abuse in their childhood.
- Sexual violence is present within human trafficking. A global study published by the Journal of Migration and Health in 2021 found that 25% of female trafficking survivors experienced sexual violence during their exploitation. Additionally, the National Human Trafficking Hotline reported 12% of all sex trafficking victims identified through hotline contacts between 2015 and 2021 experienced sexual abuse as a method of control.

Next month, we proudly stand alongside survivors, organizations, and communities who work tirelessly to prevent child abuse and sexual assault. Click below to learn more about Child Abuse Prevention Month and Sexual Assault Awareness & Prevention Month and see the resources section of this newsletter for additional prevention information.

Community Spotlight

Truckers Against Trafficking | Midland, Texas

On February 14th, Truckers Against Trafficking, in partnership with oil field service companies SLB and Apache, Region 18 Education Service Center and the Office of the Governor's Child Sex Trafficking Team, hosted a half-day human trafficking awareness event in Midland, Texas. The event brought together leaders from the energy industry and law enforcement for training, network-building, and to devise shared strategies to combat human trafficking. The convening focused on human trafficking in the Permian Basin, discussed engagement strategies for energy companies and their contractors, and featured presentations from a survivor-leader and law enforcement.

2024 National Crime Victims' Rights Week

Since 1981, National Crime Victims' Rights Week (NCVRW) has challenged the Nation to confront and remove barriers to achieving justice for all victims of crime. During NCVRW, we celebrate the accomplishments of the victims' rights movement and reflect on how far we have come.

Every April, the Office for Victims of Crime leads communities throughout the country in their annual observances of NCVRW.

Join us April 21–27, 2024, as we observe NCVRW and elevate the theme,

How Would You Help? Options, Services, and Hope for Crime Survivors.

Reports

In Harm's Way: How Systems Fail Human Trafficking Survivors

The National Survivor Survey is the largest and most significant effort to date to learn directly from survivors of sex and labor trafficking. This report uses the findings from this study to paint a detailed picture of the arc of trafficking – from the conditions that make people vulnerable, to barriers to healing when those same people break free after experiencing exploitation.

The 2022 Federal Human Trafficking Report

The Human Trafficking Institute publishes the Federal Human Trafficking Report each year as a tool for justice sector professionals, government agencies, and everyday advocates to understand the U.S. federal response to human trafficking and promote improvements. This project is essential to evaluating how well the United States prosecutes suspected traffickers. Check out the 2022 report at the link below.
