

Help Save Protected Marine Life

NOAA
FISHERIES

Never lift protected marine life from the water

Do not use gaffs or additional lines to secure protected marine life

Never throw trash or old fishing line in the water - it can entangle and kill marine life

Do not dispose of bait and fish remains in the water as it attracts dolphins and sea turtles

Do not feed or attempt to feed dolphins; it is illegal and harmful

Cast your line away from protected marine life

Reel-in your line if protected marine life approaches

Use monofilament recycling bins to dispose of fishing line

Release catch away from dolphins when possible without violating any state and federal regulations

Please Do The Following:

Bottlenose Dolphins

Report hooked, sick, injured, or stranded whales and dolphins (24-hours) to:

1-877-942-5343

Sea Turtles

If you hook a sea turtle, call for help (24-hours) to:

Giant
Manta Ray

Release immediately. Cut line as close to the hook as possible.

To help scientists, please report sightings with pictures, date, time and location to:

manta.ray@noaa.gov

fisheries.noaa.gov