- If there is an open case with CSED, they will arrange DNA collection once a copy of the court order is received. If there is no open CSED case, the parties first need to apply for services by going online at <https://childsupport.alaska.gov/> or completing form DR-315. Attach a copy of the court order and indicate that you are requesting "Paternity Services." All testing is done at a medically qualified laboratory.

- The party who has the children in their care must cooperate to have the children tested.
- The court will decide paternity even if you refuse to take the DNA test, and it may be hard to prove your position to the court without the test results.

Other Instructions to Set Up Testing:

TESTING COSTS

- Plaintiff Defendant 1 Defendant 2 will pay all costs associated with the testing procedure. If CSED arranges the test, you must pay before appointments will be scheduled.
- Parties will equally share the testing costs. If CSED arranges the test, you must pay before appointments will be scheduled.
- If testing results show that the current, legal father is not the biological father, the biological mother must reimburse the other parties for the cost of the testing. In all other situations, the biological father must reimburse the other parties for the cost of the testing.

DNA TEST RESULT

The party who requested genetic testing must file the test results with the court no longer than ten (10) days after they receive them.
