

Documents Accepted to the Sea Grant Collection

The Sea Grant Collection at the NOAA Central Library serves as a comprehensive collection of Sea Grant-produced publications from across the country. The Collection supports the Sea Grant mission by ensuring that Sea Grant publications are made accessible to researchers, students, teachers, policy makers, and other audiences. Publications are submitted to the collection through one of two routes, based on document type. Peer-reviewed journal articles are submitted for inclusion in the NOAA Institutional Repository, while other publications are submitted for inclusion in the NOAA Central Library Catalog. Some document types (i.e. posters, brochures, directories, other ephemera) cannot be included in the Sea Grant Collection at the NOAA Central Library, and should instead be submitted as a batch to the National Sea Grant Office for FY2022. Please note this third submission method is an interim procedure, which will allow the NSGO to record and evaluate these documents, and plan for a more permanent solution. Examples of these documents can be found on page four.

Listed below are the types of documents (in addition to peer-reviewed journal articles) accepted to the Sea Grant Collection, along with corresponding examples.
