COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL MATTERS

Eighty-eighth Session

Rome, 23 - 25 September 2009

AGREEMENT ON THE CENTRAL ASIAN AND CAUCASUS FISHERIES AND AQUACULTURE COMMISSION

INTRODUCTION

1. The Agreement on the Central Asia and Caucasus Fisheries and Aquaculture Commission is referred to the Committee on Constitutional and Legal Matters (CCLM) in accordance with Rule XXXIV, paragraph 3 (b) of the General Rules of the Organization. Following review and endorsement by the CCLM, the Agreement would be approved by the Council under Article XIV, paragraph 2 of the Constitution.

BACKGROUND

2. At a workshop¹ convened by FAO in December 2007 for experts from the Central Asian States, the representatives of Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Turkey and Uzbekistan called for the establishment of a regional cooperative mechanism to promote sustainable fisheries and aquaculture in Central Asia. The participants recommended the establishment of a commission, or network-type arrangement, to undertake cooperative work in the Central Asian region. This recommendation was reiterated at a workshop for the Central Asian States on the Code of Conduct for Responsible Fisheries in April 2008². In order to further explore this proposal and seek more detailed views of the interested States thereon, FAO convened, in collaboration with the Government of Tajikistan, an Intergovernmental Meeting of the concerned States of Central Asia, the Caucasus, China and Turkey in 2008 (the Dushanbe Meeting). That meeting confirmed a call for the establishment of a regional commission or network arrangement for inland fisheries and aquaculture. Pursuant to the recommendations of that meeting, an assessment of the modalities for the mechanism was initiated. The assessment focused on choosing between a body to be established under Article VI or Article XIV of the FAO Constitution, or an independent network arrangement modelled on the Network of Aquaculture Centres in Asia-Pacific (NACA).

3. At the Twenty-eighth session of the Committee on Fisheries (COFI), members were urged to encourage regional cooperation and cooperative efforts to combat illegal, unreported and unregulated fishing³. Members of the region took part in this session and held a number of informal discussions.

4. Subsequent to the above initiatives, FAO, in collaboration with the Government of Turkey, convened a second intergovernmental meeting of the States of Central Asia, the Caucasus, Iran and Turkey with a view to agreeing on the modality for the cooperative mechanism. A Steering Committee made up of designated representatives, formed in accordance with the recommendations of the Dushanbe Meeting, met before the Second Intergovernmental Meeting and agreed to recommend the establishment of a cooperative body under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution. The Steering Committee also commenced the development of the Draft Agreement for the establishment of such a body.

5. At the Second Intergovernmental Meeting held in Trabzon, Turkey from 3-5 June 2009, representatives of the States who attended, agreed on the draft text of an Agreement, as initiated by the Steering Committee, entitled "Agreement on the Central Asian and Caucasus Fisheries and Aquaculture Commission" (hereinafter referred to as the Draft Agreement), which seeks to establish a regional commission for cooperation in fisheries and aquaculture under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution. The second Intergovernmental Meeting also recommended that the Draft Agreement be submitted to FAO's Governing bodies for consideration and approval through the Committee on Constitutional and Legal Matters.

6. The draft of the Agreement on the Central Asian and Caucasus Fisheries and Aquaculture Commission is attached hereto as Appendix I. The Draft Agreement would be concluded under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution and should conform with the policy guidelines laid down in Part R of the Basic Texts entitled "Principles and Procedures which should govern conventions and agreements concluded under Articles XIV and XV of the Constitution, and commissions and committees established under Article VI of the Constitution".

SPECIFIC CONSIDERATIONS RELATING TO THE DRAFT AGREEMENT TO ESTABLISH THE CENTRAL ASIAN AND CAUCUSES FISHERIES AND AQUACULTURE COMMISSION

7. In general, the Committee is invited to note that the draft Agreement reflects standard terms of similar agreements establishing bodies under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution in accordance with the principles set out in Part R of the Basic Texts.

8. On the substance of the Agreement, FAO Members from Central Asia and the Caucasus and neighbouring States, while committed to the objectives of the Organization and acknowledging their obligations as Members, recognize the specific needs of States of Central Asia and the Caucasus, being States with economies in transition. These States require special cooperative efforts and assistance for better management of their inland fisheries and sustainable development of aquaculture in order to increase fish production and hence improve food security in their respective jurisdictions.

³ Report of the twenty-eighth session of the Committee on Fisheries. Rome, 2–6 March 2009. FAO Fisheries and Aquaculture Report. No. 902. Rome, FAO. 2009. 64p.

9. The issue of whether the Agreement should be established under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution was the subject of much discussion. Eventually, Members with economies in transition from the Central Asian region and the Caucasus considered that their specific needs and related requirements would be better addressed through a cooperative mechanism established under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution. This would allow them to benefit from the technical strengths and nurturing features of FAO and, in general, allow for increased synergies between the Commission and the technical services of the Organization. At the same time, prospective members of the proposed Central Asian and Fisheries and Aquaculture Commission are cognizant of some implications of that status and are prepared to accept financial commitments for the implementation of a pragmatic and productive work programme. Prospective members are confident, as indicated in a letter addressed to Mr. Jacques Diouf, Director-General, FAO from the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Affairs, Republic of Turkey, submitting the Draft Agreement on the Central Asian and Caucasus Fisheries and Aquaculture Commission for consideration and approval, that the principles and requirements underlying this objective are adequately stipulated in the Draft Agreement.

10. The Committee should note that while the provisions of the Agreement reflect standard clauses of similar agreements establishing bodies under Article XIV of the FAO Constitution, it nevertheless contains certain provisions that reflect specific needs of the States of Central Asia and the Caucasus and other prospective parties to the Agreement on the Central Asian and Caucasus Fisheries and Aquaculture Commission. The specifically crafted provisions to reflect the special requirements of the prospective parties to the Agreement include:

- the provision on the scope or area of competence for the new Commission which includes all water bodies within the territories of the States of Central Asia and the Caucasus and the transboundary water basins bordering the territories of the Central Asian States and the Caucasus (draft Article IV);
- the obligation by parties to implement all recommendations of the Commission subject to an objection procedure (draft Article V)⁴;
- expenses for the participation of members of the Commission to annual sessions of the Commission to be paid by the budget of the Commission in order to facilitate national budgeting processes. (draft Article X)⁵

SUGGESTED ACTION BY THE COMMITTEE

11. The CCLM is invited to review the Draft Agreement including in light of the provisions of Part R of the Basic Texts of the Organization and make such observations thereon as appropriate.

12. The CCLM is invited to review and endorse the Draft Agreement and recommend its approval by the Council at its Hundred and Thirty-seventh Session in September 2009. Following such approval, the Agreement will be circulated to the FAO Members entitled to join the Commission, and will enter into force as from the date of deposit of the third instrument of acceptance.

⁵ The expenses of a member's designated representative and the alternate to attend annual sessions of the Commission will be covered by the autonomous budget of the Commission to which assessed mandatory and voluntary contributions will be made by the members. Hence FAO will neither be paying for the participation of members at Commission sessions nor the work programme of the Commission.
