

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

October 2024

SUMMIT OF THE FUTURE

The Pact for the Future and its annexes, the Global Digital Compact and the Declaration on Future Generations, were adopted by consensus on 22 September 2024 at the Summit of the Future.

The Summit took place over the course of two days, with plenary sessions and four interactive dialogues held in parallel from 22-23 September 2024.

The Summit brought together over 4,000 individuals from Heads of State and Government, observers, intergovernmental organizations, UN System, civil society, and non-governmental organizations.

The Summit preparatory process and the Pact have been deeply enriched by thousands of stakeholders from around the world.

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

- Culmination of a years-long process to adapt international cooperation to the realities of today and the challenges of tomorrow.
- Ensures that international institutions can deliver in the face of a world that has changed dramatically since they were created.
- Strong statement of countries' commitment to the United Nations and its Charter, the international system and international law.
- Most wide-ranging international agreement in many years, covering both new areas and issues on which agreement had not been possible in decades.
- Clear commitments and deliverables on sustainable development and financing, peace and security, digital cooperation, youth and future generations and global governance.
- Each chapter and the annexes also include concrete actions related to human rights and gender equality as cross-cutting issues.
- There is a commitment to review overall implementation of the Pact at the beginning of the 83rd General Assembly session (2028).

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

WHAT IT DELIVERS

12 actions in
Chapter 1 of the Pact

Sustainable development and financing for development

The full Pact is designed to turbocharge the implementation of the 2030 Agenda.

It has a strong focus on means of implementation and closing the SDG financing gap, including by advancing SDG stimulus, scaling up and fulfilling ODA commitments, preventing and combating illicit financial flows, improving international tax cooperation and mobilizing domestic and private resources, among other measures.

Member States also committed to ensuring that the multilateral trading system is an engine for sustainable development by working towards concluding the necessary reform of the WTO, promoting export-led growth in developing countries, among other actions.

On climate change, it confirms the need to keep global temperature rise to 1.5°C above pre-industrial levels and to transition away from fossil fuels in energy systems to achieve net-zero emissions by 2050.

The strong link between sustainable development and human rights, a recommitment to respect, protect and fulfil all human rights and fundamental freedoms, and actions to achieve gender equality as a crucial contribution to the SDGs are featured prominently.

There is a commitment to consider in September 2027 how to advance sustainable development beyond 2030

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

WHAT IT DELIVERS

International peace and security

Recommitment to protect civilians in armed conflict; a pledge to refrain from the use of explosive weapons in populated areas and to strengthen accountability for serious crimes and gross violations.

Agreement to intensify diplomacy to settle conflicts and disputes peacefully, supported by the UN and the UN Secretary-General's good offices.

National whole-of-society sustaining peace efforts through the development and implementation of voluntary national prevention strategies; commitment that military spending does not compromise sustainable development investments.

Agreement to adapt peace operations to better respond to existing challenges and new realities, informed by recommendations emerging from a review on the future of all forms of UN peace operations.

First multilateral recommitment to nuclear disarmament in more than a decade, with a clear commitment to the goal of totally eliminating nuclear weapons.

Steps to avoid the weaponization of emerging domains and technologies, such as outer space, lethal autonomous weapons systems and the military applications of AI and the affirmation that the laws of war should apply to many of these new technologies.

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

WHAT IT DELIVERS

6 actions in Chapter 3 of the Pact and 5 sets of objectives in the Global Digital Compact

Science, technology, innovation (STI) and digital cooperation

Measures to reduce global disparities in science, technology and innovation, including through scaling-up means of implementation.

Commitment to increase the use of science in policymaking and the decision to strengthen capacities at the UN to leverage science, technology and innovation in the work of the organization.

The Global Digital Compact (GDC) annexed to the Pact is the first comprehensive global framework for digital cooperation and AI governance.

GDC objectives include closing digital divides; expanding inclusion in and benefits from the digital economy; fostering an inclusive, open, safe and secure digital space that protects human rights; advancing data governance; and enhancing international governance of artificial intelligence.

GDC represents a crucial step in advancing international governance of AI, including a commitment to establish a multidisciplinary Independent International Scientific Panel on AI and a Global Dialogue on AI within the United Nations.

Building on the recommendations of the High-level Advisory Body on Artificial Intelligence regarding a Global Fund on AI, Member States have requested the Secretary-General to develop innovative voluntary financing options for AI capacity-building.

A system-wide coordination office for UN work will be established.

The Secretary-General will produce an implementation roadmap for the Digital Compact for consideration at WSIS+20 in 2025

There is a commitment to a high-level review of the Global Digital Compact in 2027.

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

WHAT IT DELIVERS

4 actions in Chapter 4 of the Pact and 9 actions in the Declaration on Future Generations

Youth and future generations

Strengthen youth participation in global decision-making, including in UN intergovernmental bodies and processes.

Strengthen meaningful youth participation at the national level through existing or by establishing new mechanisms and providing meaningful opportunities to engage in national policymaking and decision-making processes

Investment in the social and economic development of children and young people so that they can reach their full potential; SG to update Member States on proposal for a Global Youth Investment Platform

First-ever Declaration on Future Generations adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, with concrete steps to take account of future generations in our decision-making, including noting the appointment of a special envoy for future generations and deciding to review implementation of the Declaration on the basis of an SG report in the 83rd General Assembly (2028-9).

Embed the needs and interests of future generations and long-term thinking in policymaking – fostering cooperation and facilitating greater use of anticipatory planning and foresight, based on science, data and statistics; raise awareness of and advise on likely intergenerational impacts of policies and programs.

PACT FOR THE FUTURE

WHAT IT DELIVERS

Transforming global governance

Most progressive and concrete commitment to Security Council reform since the 1960s, with plans to improve the effectiveness and representativeness of the Council, including by redressing the historical under-representation of Africa, and improving the representation of Latin America and the Caribbean and Asia Pacific.

Most detailed agreement ever at the UN on the reform of the international financial architecture so that it better represents and serves developing countries, through inter alia:

- giving them a greater say in decision-making at IFIs;
- mobilizing more financing from MDBs;
- reviewing the sovereign debt architecture to ensure that developing countries can borrow sustainably; and
- strengthening the global financial safety net to protect the poorest in the event of financial and economic shocks.

Steps to improve how we measure human progress, going beyond GDP to capturing human and planetary wellbeing and sustainability.

Clear commitment to ensure the enjoyment by all of all human rights, including through UN human rights mechanisms that are effective and have adequate means to respond to a range of human rights challenges.

Steps to make the multilateral system more inclusive through deepened partnerships between the UN and other stakeholders, including civil society, the private sector, regional organizations, national parliaments and local and regional authorities.

Agreement to discuss the establishment of new frameworks for space traffic, space debris and space resources through the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

IMPLEMENTATION AND FOLLOW UP

The Summit and the Pact for the Future were historic achievements, but real success will come when all these agreements are translated into action and impact people's lives everywhere.

Working together requires coordination and close collaboration across the UN system, with member states and key stakeholders, at the global, regional and national levels.

Member States can count on the UN System's support at the global, regional and national levels.

In addition to dedicated provisions across the Pact and its annexes for follow-up action – a high-level review of the Global Digital Compact in 2027, a high-level plenary meeting on Future Generations in 2028, and a Heads of State and Government meeting in 2028 for a comprehensive review of the Pact for the Future – implementation will take place in a wide variety of intergovernmental events and processes starting immediately.

Other international fora, such as the Fourth International Conference on Financing for Development, the Second World Summit for Social Development and the upcoming UN Climate Change Conferences will also be key opportunities to build on the outcomes of the Pact.

ROAD TO THE PACT FOR THE FUTURE

▶ 2015 2030 Agenda

The 2030 Agenda is agreed by UN Member States as a plan of action for people, planet, prosperity and peace outlined through 17 Sustainable Development Goals and related targets.

▶ 2020 UN75 Declaration

In the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, Member States issued the UN75 Declaration that included 12 overarching commitments along with a request that the Secretary-General report back to the General Assembly with recommendations to address current and future challenges.

▶ 2021 Our Common Agenda (OCA)

The Secretary-General responded to this call with Our Common Agenda to speed up implementation of the SDGs and address strategic gaps in global governance. It called for a Summit of the Future to forge a new global consensus on multilateral solutions to current and future challenges.

▶ 2022 Modalities Resolution 76/307

Having welcomed the submission of Our Common Agenda, the General Assembly passed a resolution in 2022 (A/RES/76/307) to hold the Summit of the Future on 22-23 September 2024. The resolution decides that the Summit will adopt a concise, action-oriented outcome document entitled "A Pact for the Future".

▶ 2023 Policy Briefs

To support Member States in their deliberations for the Pact, the Secretary-General provided proposals in 11 policy briefs, deepening ideas initially laid out in the Our Common Agenda report.

▶ 2024 Pact for the Future

The Pact for the Future was adopted on 22 September 2024 at the Summit of the Future.
