

Winter Storm Warning for Snow

- Beginning 3 AM Friday for most of Middle Tennessee
- Beginning 9 AM Friday for the Upper Cumberland

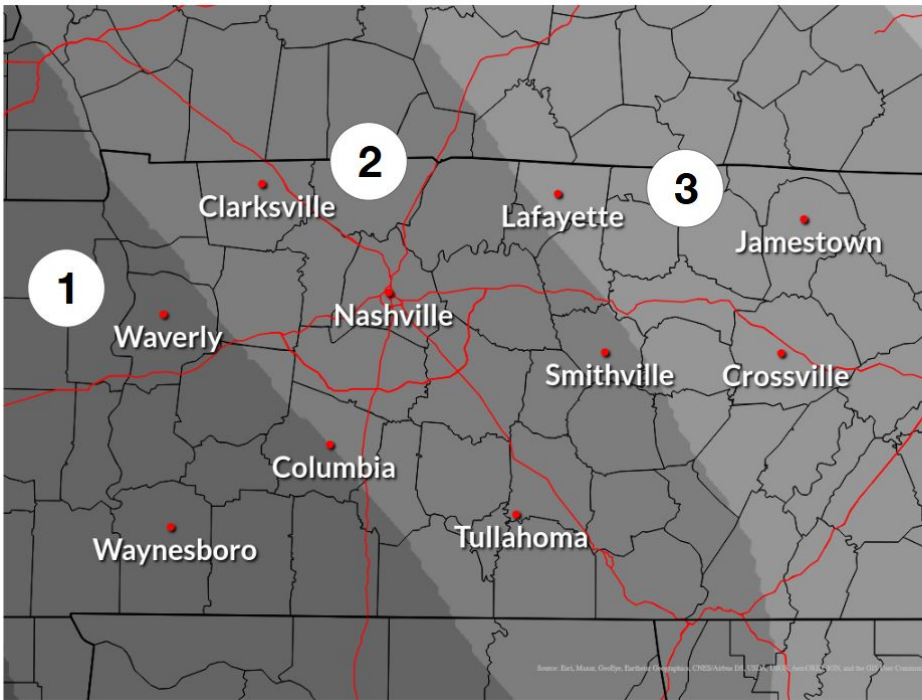

Forecast Details

- Travel impacts from snow starting early Friday morning
- 3 to 6 inches will be common with localized 8 inch amounts
- Most of the snow will fall mid morning through evening
- Little or no sleet or freezing rain
- Snow tapering off Friday evening, but significant travel impacts will continue into Saturday
- Continued cold weather will result in slow melting. Partial thawing and refreezing could keep travel conditions hazardous for several days, especially in rural areas, secondary roads, sidewalks, and parking lots.

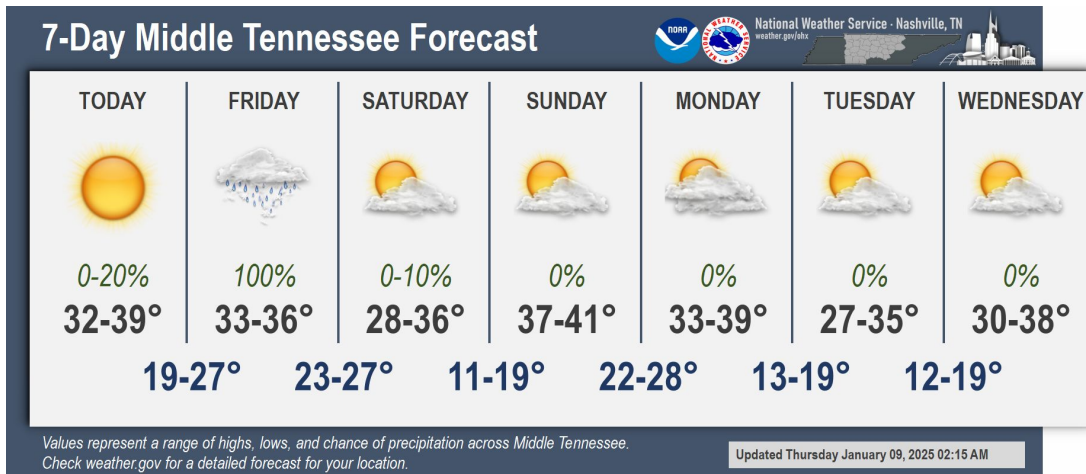

Snow Start Times

1 Winter Weather Timing
Earliest Start	1 AM Friday
Most Likely	4 AM Friday
Latest Start	7 AM Friday
2 Winter Weather Timing
Earliest Start	4 AM Friday
Most Likely	7 AM Friday
Latest Start	10 AM Friday
3 Winter Weather Timing
Earliest Start	7 AM Friday
Most Likely	10 AM Friday
Latest Start	1 PM Friday

Forecaster Comments:

- Some models show warmer air coming up from the south causing rain to mix with snow across the southern counties. We believe this will be brief. The main result will be slightly lower snow totals near the Alabama border, but travel impacts will still occur.
- 3 to 6 inches will be common, but some enhanced narrow bands may result in 7 or 8 inches in a few spots.

Detailed Forecast Point

Graphical Hazardous Weather Outlook