Thin cirrostratus overcast, no wind, temp ~50 F.

COMMENT: Tue Aug 2 21:47:19 GMT 1994

Our Internet link was down since yesterday evening, after I talked to someone at NOAA they found that one of the routers had become unplugged. So we just now got back on line again. No need to use the modem for an HAO link.

The sky is still overcast and getting worse, I guess my spending the night to catch the first rays of dawn didn't pay off this time. But there are lots of non-observing tasks to do anyway.
