COMMENT: Thu Aug 25 18:47:09 GMT 1994
Back in cirrus. Looks very extensive. Stopping observations.

DPMON COMMENT: Thu Aug 25 18:47:57 GMT 1994
Restored limb-preferred mode.

Thu Aug 25 18:50:03 GMT 1994: Patrol End

DPMON COMMENT: Thu Aug 25 18:55:00 GMT 1994
Coude encoder had slipped about 20 degrees, probably on a long observing day, or on a cloudy day where Coude was not unwound and dome power allowed the clock drive to run. Bench shaft is bent slightly, so, at some point late in the PM or equivalent bench position, bench and encoder gear may become disengaged.

Restored encoder mesh.

WEATHER COMMENT: Thu Aug 25 20:31:20 GMT 1994
Clear hole. Restarting observing systems.
Brushed front surface MKIII O1.

Thu Aug 25 20:32:28 GMT 1994: Patrol Start

WEATHER COMMENT: Thu Aug 25 20:34:00 GMT 1994
There is thin cirrus in the hole.

WEATHER COMMENT: Thu Aug 25 20:41:23 GMT 1994
Back in thicker cirrus that is again extensive. Stopping observing systems.

Thu Aug 25 20:42:03 GMT 1994: Patrol End
