Year: 97 Doy: 128

Observer: yasukawa

WEATHER COMMENT: Thu May 8 16:33:12 GMT 1997

In heavy cirrus and orographic cloud overcast. A few snowflakes were falling as I walked up here. Light southwest breeze.

WEATHER COMMENT: Thu May 8 16:36:41 GMT 1997

>From all indications--visuals from Hilo, satellite loops, and NOAA solar radiation plots, yesterday's sky was not observable, at least with MKIII. CHIP may have been able to plow thru the cirrus and DPMON may have been marginal. Will still put up a blue dot on calendar as no observer was at site.

Back from GONG.

COMMENT: Thu May 8 17:31:12 GMT 1997

No observations likely today. Using opportunity to catch up with office stuff and to prep for this afternoon's meeting with Charlie regarding RISE dome construction.
