KCOR COMMENT BY berkey: Wed Jan 22 21:02:51 GMT 2014

Inspected the beam train for something that could be causing optical noise in the south. From what I can tell, there is a strong possiblity of scatter light reflecting off of the bolts holding the Cal Pol cover. I will try to find some flat b lack pan head black bolts to replace the taller shinny socket head bolts that are currently in place.
