No observations today.

Took spectrgraph scans for all 670,761,802 and 991 wave regions.

670 will continue running over night. So far impressions of the 991, 802, and 761 look good so hopefully the 670 will look good and we will be done with the spectral scans today.

Tommrow we will start the day with running recipes on these and the older lines before moving on to the next steps in the ucomp service.
