Whether you simply want to add swings to a small daycare or if you have a busy playground that never seems to have enough swings available, this 8-foot high Value Arch Post Swing by SportsPlay is ideal to add to any area. It is available to order with one, two, three or four bays, offering seating configurations of two, four, six or eight. This is definitely a system that can be personalized to your exact needs. It does come standard as blue, but for a slight surcharge, it can be painted a different color. This is ideal if you are trying to match other equipment you already have. The pipe used for the rail and arch has diameter of 3.5 inches, and before being powder-coated, it is galvanized first to prevent rusting. If you do not need chains and seats, you can order without these elements too.
