1. Outline of Asian Disaster Reduction Center

1. Outline of the Asian Disaster Reduction Center (ADRC)

1) Background of Establishment

Asian Disaster Reduction Center (ADRC) opened its office in Kobe, Japan, on 30 July 1998. The backgrounds of establishing ADRC are as described below.

(1) International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction (IDNDR)

In 1987, the UN General Assembly adopted a resolution to designate the 1990s as the "International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction (IDNDR)". Based on the resolution, activities were started to reduce damages caused by natural disasters around the world, particularly in developing countries, through joint international actions.

(2) World Conference on International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction (May 1994, Yokohama, Japan)

In May 1994 the UN organized the "World Conference on International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction" in Yokohama, Japan, to conduct an interim review of the IDNDR, and propose an action plan for the future. At the meeting the "Yokohama Strategy" was adopted, which incorporated a "Feasibility study on a system that would act as the disaster reduction coordination in the Asian region".

Yokohama Strategy

At the "World Summit for Social Development" held in Copenhagen in March 1995, the Prime Minister Tomiichi Murayama of Japan (then) proposed to open the "Ministerial-level Asian Natural Disaster Reduction Conference", and to start a study for reinforcing the disaster reduction measure in the Asian region.

(3) Ministerial-level Asian Natural Disaster Reduction Conference (December 1995, Kobe, Japan)

As the first step in regional level cooperation as per the Yokohama Strategy, the "Ministerial-level Asian Natural Disaster Reduction Conference" was held in December 1995 in Kobe, which was stricken by the Great Hanshin-Awaji Earthquake. At the Conference the Prime Minister Murayama of Japan (then) proposed a "Feasibility study on a system which would act as the disaster reduction coordinator in the Asian region", and the proposal was approved.

Grounded on the foregoing history, studies on the feasibility of ADRC were steered at such occasions as the "Asian Natural Disaster Reduction Experts Meeting (October 1996, Tokyo, Japan)" and the "Asian Disaster

Reduction Cooperation Promotion Meeting (June 1997, Tokyo)". As a result, ADRC established its office in July 1998 in Kobe, Hyogo Prefecture, Japan in order to build a network to promote multinational disaster risk reduction cooperation through the exchange of administration officials of Asian countries and related organizations and experts in various fields so as to build capabilities of adapting to natural disasters in the Asian region and to construct societies where people can live safely, comfortably and at ease.

The foundation of ADRC was selected as one of 10 success stories at the disaster reduction meeting (Program forum) held in July 1999 in Geneva, which concluded the "International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction (IDNDR)", and its representative was granted an honor of presenting the contents of activities to 700 participants from 130 countries.

3) Primary Policies

(1) Missions and Objectives

Missions of the Asian Disaster Reduction Center is to enhance disaster resilience of the member countries, to build safe communities, and to create a society where sustainable development is possible. The Center has worked to build disaster resilient communities and to establish networks among countries through many programs including personnel exchanges in this field.

ADRC has addressed the issue of disaster risk reduction (DRR) from a global perspective in cooperation with a variety of United Nations (UN) agencies and international organizations, such as the UN Secretariat for International Strategy for Disaster Reduction (UNISDR), the UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA), the UN Economic and Social Commission for Asia and Pacific (UNESCAP), United Nations Office for Outer Space Affairs (UNOOSA), United Nations Platform for Space-Based Information for Disaster Management and Emergency (UN-SPIDER), United Nations Educational, Response Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), United University (UNU), World Meteorological Organization (WMO), World Health Organization (WHO), the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), the Association of South-East Asian Nations (ASEAN), and the World Bank.

The Hyogo Framework for Action (HFA) was adopted in the Second UN World Conference on Disaster Reduction in January 2005. For driving ahead the implementation of the HFA, ADRC had been further strengthening networks among 30 member countries and UN agencies, international organizations, and so on. In addition, Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction (SFDRR) framework from 2015 to 2030 was adopted in the Third UN World Conference on Disaster Risk Reduction, which was held in March 2015. In accordance with the understanding that needs for further strengthening relationships for DRR among wider stakeholders was confirmed in this conference, ADRC has been pursuing the SFDRR implementation .

2. Main Activities of ADRC

2. Main Activities of the Asian Disaster Reduction Center

1) Information Sharing

- Learning from disasters, benefiting from information -

In order to take appropriate measures upon occurrence of a disaster and reduce its damages, it is indispensable to collect, present and share the information of disaster quickly and accurately. Disaster information sharing is also necessary for succeeding lessons learned from disasters in the past to future generations and utilizing them in the measures for disaster risk reduction (DRR). Due to these reasons, ADRC is promoting the consolidation of the infrastructure of information to promote the international cooperation for DRR through the following activities.

(1) Organization of Asian Conference on Disaster Reduction (ACDR)

ADRC convenes an annual international conference participated by disaster officials from the member countries and disaster experts from international organizations to promote information sharing, exchange opinions, and enhance partnerships among participating countries and organizations. In 2003, the two international meetings on DRR in Asia, i.e., ADRC International Meeting and UNISDR Asian Meeting were integrated into the Asian Conference on Disaster Reduction (ACDR).

ADRC has been sharing useful information for disaster risk management through internet by establishing a website (URL:www.adrc.asia) so that officials in charge of disaster management in the Asian countries including those of ADRC member countries, and persons involved in disaster risk reduction activities in the world can easily get information whenever they want.

The website provides a wide range of information such as "Latest Disaster Information", "Disaster Risk Reduction Information of Member/Advisor Countries", "Multi-language Glossary on Natural Disasters", "Events related to Disaster Risk Reduction", and "Publications & Newsletter". The information has been updated as needed or occasionally.

ADRC issues monthly newsletter "ADRC Highlights" by email and also uploads on the website to disseminate the activities for wider audience.

b) Latest Disaster Information Database

Upon the occurrence of a disaster, plenty of information is released including the damage situation of the affected area, emergency response, evacuation and so on through media, national and local governments, international organizations, research institutions and civil societies in the affected countries and throughout the world. Such information was once provided largely individually, it took time to get all the necessary information, which prevented from immediate data collection activities in case of emergency.

Since its inception in 1998, ADRC has developed a database of the latest disaster information obtained from various sources. Summarized information with direct links to the sources enables rapid search and retrieval of information. Particularly, the database provides a summary of disasters (dates, locations, and overviews), damage situations, relevant links categorized as reports/articles, geographic data, emergency relief information, urgent reports from ADRC member countries and graphic information. Such information is continually updated on its website.

On top page of ADRC's website The Latest Disaster Information" is placed, linking to such the database for detailed disaster information and disaster management information of the affected country.

This section takes a case of flood and landslide in Sri Lanka in May 2017. The disaster information appears on the top page as well as Latest Disaster Information page in detail which has links to the corresponding GLIDE number, space imagery obtained in Sentinel Asia framework, and national disaster management organization of the country when it is ADRC's member country.

The information originates mainly from release from relevant organizations including reports from ADRC member countries, situation reports from the OCHA ReliefWeb, IFRC, and media. The Latest Disaster Information site is interlinked with the disaster management information of ADRC website, serving as a portal to various kinds of information.

In addition, the database connected to the link to the other site "JAXA DMSS" to enhance the value to ADRC's web site using the satellite image data taken at the affected site after the natural disasters when the emergency satellite observation was conducted.

The database provides information of more than 2,148 disasters in the world as of 28 February 2018.

c) Publishing Newsletter: ADRC Highlights

ADRC has been using Internet and e-mail to share information with its counterparts in the member countries, and other relevant parties. As one of its important tools for information dissemination, ADRC has been issuing the newsletter "ADRC Highlights" since 1 June 1999. It had been issued twice a month until FY 2007, and has been issued once a month since the renewal of its design in FY 2008.

The newsletter is made available on the website. It is also emailed in English, Russian and Japanese to ADRC counterparts and former visiting researchers, former GLobal IDEntifier number (GLIDE) visiting researchers, participants in the past ADRC annual meetings, visitors to ADRC, trainees in JICA's training courses which ADRC were involved in, and participants in international conferences ADRC took part in to strengthen relations with. Also ADRC registers e-mail addresses of those who wish to subscribe the newsletter upon the receipt of request e-mail. The numbers of subscribers in English, Russian and Japanese, are 2,168, 223 and 903 respectively as of January 2017.

The contents include articles on the latest ADRC activities, reports on international conferences, and other events which ADRC staff attended and gave presentations in, as well as national reports by ADRC visiting researchers from member countries.

d) Disaster Risk Reduction Activities of Member Countries

Gathering information on the disaster risk management systems of member countries is considered as one of the important ADRC activities. ADRC has updated the information through information requests to member countries, field surveys, international conferences, and web search. Also, the country report has updated in cooperation with Visiting Researchers.

Table 2-2 shows the list of the country reports provided by counterparts member in countries, which are made available on ADRC website. Organizations in charge of disaster risk management in many countries have been information promoting by dissemination using internet actively over recent Therefore, ADRC years. website has provided direct links with these websites, which offer access to the latest information.

e) Multilanguage Glossary on DRR Provision of Multi-language Glossary on Natural Disasters

The Multi-language Glossary on Natural Disasters was compiled through the activities of the United Nation's IDNDR launched in 1990. It can be easily searched in six languages such as Chinese, English, French, Japanese, Korean and Spanish by choosing an input language and a target language. To make the glossary available to a broader audience, ADRC has been providing online translation services.

Thus, the six-language glossary is now available on the ADRC website. The glossary contains technical terms which are hard to find in ordinary dictionaries, and it can be utilized by personnel in the disaster risk management field to decipher technical documents related to Disaster Risk Reduction.

Native Language Translation by Visiting Researchers

ADRC accepts the Visiting Researchers from member countries every year to strengthen their capacities in disaster risk management and the related studies of their own countries.

Since 2008, ADRC has been making "Multi-language Dictionaries" for about 1,130 basic DRR terms with side by side translation into the mother language of the Visiting Researcher. Side by side translation lists have already been completed by researchers from Kyrgyz, Pakistan, Nepal, Vietnam, Malaysia and Sri Lanka. The finalized lists were initially offered in the format of "Multilanguage Dictionaries (Tentative Translation)" on the ADRC website separated from the "Multi-language Glossary", and were intended to serve as reference materials for DRR activities in member countries.

ADRC continues to add data to these lists, and plans to further promote their use by member countries in the future.

f) Natural Disaster Data Book

Past disaster records are critical in policy making, review, survey and analysis of disaster management plan. ADRC concluded MOU on disaster data utilization with the Centre for Research on the Epidemiology of Disasters (CRED) and has conducted analyses on disaster impacts based on the database, EM-DAT maintained by CRED.

20th Century Data Book on Asian Natural Disasters and its revision, released in July 2000 and August 2002 respectively, featured disasters which hit its member countries. Also, annual Natural Disaster Data Book which covers disaster characteristics in the world and Asia in each year has been regularly published.

(3) Development and Application of the Global Unique Disaster IDEntifier Number (GLIDE) System

GLIDE is the acronym of Global unique disaster IDEntifier, which gives common but unique numbers to disasters all over the world. GLIDE was firstly proposed by ADRC and has been adopted and used in more than 20 international organizations, research institutes and so on.

ADRC has its own criteria for new GLIDE generation. In case of Japan, a new GLIDE number will be generated for a disaster in which either 5 or more people are killed or 100 or more people are injured. In case of Asian countries except Japan, a new GLIDE number will be generated for a disaster in which either 10 or more people are killed or 100 or more people are injured.

The GLIDE number format was revised in 2004 as follows:

AA-BBBB-CCCCCC-DDD-EEE

AA: Disaster classification

BBBB: Year of occurrence (4-digit numeric figure)

CCCCCC: Serial number in one year

DDD: Country code (ISO code. e.g., JPN for Japan)

EEE: Local code (e.g., 013 for Tokyo)

The local code at the end could be added for the convenience of the user countries in organizing their national databases.

(4) Transmitting Images of Disaster affected Areas and Offering Image Analysis Technique

Focal Point of the Observation Request of the Sentinel Asia

Asian Disaster Reduction Center (ADRC) continues to participate in the Sentinel Asia project that was launched in 2006 with an objective of establishing a disaster risk management system by making the use of satellite images in Asia.

ADRC functions as the focal point to receive emergency observation requests in the framework of the Sentinel Asia. Upon receiving a request, ADRC decides whether the request is appropriate or not, and whether the emergency observation should be implemented mainly by assessing the damages and casualties. Based on its own judgment, ADRC will forward the request to five space agencies, namely, the ISRO (India), the JAXA (Japan), the GISTDA

OUN-SPIDER Regional Support Office

In accordance with the Cooperation Agreement between the United Nations Office for Outer Space Affairs (UNOOSA) and ADRC signed on 4 June 2009 on the establishment of ADRC UN-SPIDER Regional Support Office (RSO), the ADRC UN-SPIDER Regional Support Office has been established within ADRC office and operated by ADRC staff members as coordinators of the ADRC UN-SPIDER RSO.

ADRC, as a UN-SPIDER RSO, should thus work towards ensuring the successful implementation of the UN-SPIDER Work Plan thereby facilitating countries in Asia to have access to and develop the capacity to use space-based information to support the whole of disaster management cycle.

2) Human Resource Development - Disaster Risk Reduction begins with Capacity Building -

Prompt and appropriate activities for disaster management and response in a disaster event are largely attributable to qualifications and abilities of the personnel responsible for the tasks. Further, not only the personnel in charge of disaster management in national and local governments, but also all the residents need to improve their capacities for disaster preparedness and safeguarding of their own lives from disasters ("self-help") and for helping each other ("mutual-support"), toward building disaster resilient communities. With this view, ADRC has promoted human resource development for DRR in Asia.

(1) Implementation of a Program to Invite Researchers from Member Countries

ADRC has been receiving Visiting Researchers (VR) from member countries since 1999. To date, 105 officials from 26 member countries have taken part in this program.

Every visiting researcher has learnt about the Japan's advanced knowledge and technology on disaster risk reduction (DRR) and international cooperation of Japan in his/her stay at ADRC. The ARDC Visiting Researchers are expected not only to contribute to strengthening the capacity on DRR in their countries, but also to further promote cooperation between their countries and ADRC. After finishing the program, they are expected to contribute to developing and improving the capacity on disaster reduction in their countries.

The objectives of information networking on VR are as follows:

- To accumulate the latest disaster information, disaster management policy, laws, plans and budget of the member countries for strengthen their disaster resilience;
- To analyze the policies through the collection and the surveying of Good Practice of the disaster risk reduction measures of the member countries.
- To develop effective capacity development programs and tools based on needs and priorities of VRs and their countries;
- To continue improving VR program taking their feedback into consideration.

the most advanced facilities in Asia from member countries. In an effort to utilize their expertise and facilities, ADRC has been inviting fire fighters and rescuers from member countries to participate in this training course since 2001. (3) Implementation of Short-term Training ADRC has been conducting a short-term training for the disaster risk reduction at the request of relevant organizations. Target people of the training are mainly government officials and students overseas.

The contents of the training are focused on the current state of disasters in Asia, the activities of the Asian Disaster Reduction Center, the disaster prevention and DRR measures in Japan, disaster information network, hazard mapping and so on. The training activity is a good opportunity to deepen their understanding of the efforts and awareness about the significance of DRR activities, to improve the DRR capability in Asian countries.

3) Building Disaster Resilient Community - Community Involvement is a Key to Effective DRR -

Risk reduction measures are most successful and effective when they directly involve the communities most likely to be exposed to hazards. ADRC undertakes various efforts including increasing public awareness of disaster risk reduction, development and dissemination of tools for reducing vulnerability of communities.

(1) Development of Tsunami Awareness Educational Materials "Inamura-no-hi"

"Inamura no Hi" is a story of a man who noticed a precursor of a large tsunami at the earliest stage and led village inhabitants to a high ground by burning harvested rice sheaves based on a true story at the time of Ansei-Nankai Tsunami in Hiromura village in 1854.

ADRC developed Tsunami educational materials (Children version and Adult version) with basic knowledge of Tsunami in 9 languages for 8 Asian countries: Bangladesh (Bengal), India (Hindi and Tamil), Indonesia (Indonesian), Malaysia (Malay), Nepal (Nepali), Singapore (English), Sri Lanka (Sinhala), Philippines (Tagalog for Children, English for Adult), using "Inamura no Hi" story, funded by the Government of Japan.

Further, the French version was developed in cooperation with UNISDR for coastal states of Africa. With utilization of the materials, it is expected to support the efforts for reducing the damage in case of future Tsunami in communities in various countries.

The materials are available at the following ADRC website. http://www.adrc.asia/publications/inamura/top.html

(2) Town Watching for Disaster Risk Reduction

Town-Watching for DRR is a simple and practical tool for efficiently implementing community-based hazard mapping in local communities.

The major benefit of Town-Watching for DRR is that the physical involvement of participants (in such activities as walking, observing, mapping by hand, and discussing findings) enables them to better develop a concrete image of DRR activities.

4) Cooperation with Member Countries, International Organizations, and NGOs

For further enhancing the DRR capacities in Asia, ADRC has provided various projects (workshops, symposium and events) in cooperation with member countries, international organizations, and NGOs.

(1) Cooperative Projects with Member Countries

For DRR capacity enhancement of member countries, ADRC had provided financial and technical supports to the projects implemented in the member countries and shared the achievements and lessons learned with the target countries, as well as providing the know-how obtained through these activities to other member countries.

(2) ADRC Peer Review Project

ADRC has launched the "ADRC Peer Review" Project from FY2009 for further supporting the efforts for the DRR capacity enhancement and promoting information sharing and strengthening the relations among member countries. The policy reviews were conducted based on the proposed specific themes by the reviewer team composed of experts of the targeted themes, experts from other Member Countries, and ADRC researchers.

(3) Support for DRR Measures in Member Countries

In order to effectively reduce the disaster damages, it is essential to enhance the capacity of communities and residents exposed to disasters, and hence this is included in the targets of the HFA and SFDRR. The frameworks specify the preparation of disaster risk reduction strategies to be promoted by each county as a preferential item toward the achievement of objectives. In assisting member countries' decision-making in DRR strategies, ADRC is engaged in the following activities in responding their requests.

Collaboration with the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA)

In order to further promote our collaboration with member countries and contribute to their efforts for intensive activities, ADRC have been cooperating and participating extensively in the projects implemented by the JICA, in which we are playing a central role particularly in the field of disaster reduction at the community-level.

Support activities to the Asian Disaster Reduction and Response Network (ADRRN)

Asian Disaster Reduction and Response Network (ADRRN) was formed in 2002 under the agreement concluded in the Regional Workshop on Networking and Collaboration among Non-Governmental Organizations of Asian Countries in Disaster Reduction and Response conducted by ADRC and OCHA.

Since then ADRC has supported the effort to improve networking among Asian NGOs which play an important role in disaster risk reduction and response.

(4) Disaster Damage Surveys in Asia

When large scale natural disasters occur in the member countries or other, ADRC dispatches researchers to the sites based on the request from the member country or other, and investigates damages.

During the investigation, ADRC utilizes the network of human resources, in cooperation with related agencies, tries to grasp situations at the stricken areas immediately after the incident and needs of victims in order to produce restoration and recovery plans. Moreover, we present information based on the findings from the investigation to related agencies and, if there is a request from the authority of the disaster-stricken country, cooperate with the central and local governments as well as regional communities by implementing seminars related to the disaster reduction.

(5) Support for the International Recovery Platform (IRP)

Establishment of the IRP and its Background

While UN system capacities for disaster response and humanitarian assistance are widely recognized as well developed, there is currently a vacuum in terms of capacities and accepted system wide mechanisms for post-disaster recovery, particularly those with a risk reduction focus.

Experience increasingly affirms that the post-disaster recovery phase provide a critical opportunity to shift the focus from saving lives to restoring livelihoods, and a time to introduce measures to reduce future disaster risk. Recovery can help close the gap between relief and development and transform disasters into opportunities for sustainable development. This occurs when efforts are made to support local and national recovery processes at an early stage, when risk reduction considerations are factored into all recovery activities, and when the synergies between development, humanitarian and other actors involved in the response phases are properly channeled. A successful recovery effort, then, is predicated on having advance agreements and mechanisms in place so the recovery process is effectively conceived and managed, and is initiated in a timely manner. This includes such measures as appropriate assessment methodologies, pre-established resource mobilization mechanisms, surge capacity to support UN Country Teams and standing co-ordination mechanisms.

Shared concerns related to the UN approach and processes for post-disaster recovery have resulted in the formulation of a joint initiative, the International Recovery Platform by the UN system, ADRC and partners, with the encouragement and support of Japan and other donors, and key programme countries. This initiative was discussed during the 2nd WCDR under the thematic session 4.9 on Post Disaster Recovery. Representatives from UNDP, UNHABITAT, ADRC, ADPC, ILO, and other concerned UN agencies expressed their respective agency commitment and support to the proposed international platform for recovery. The meeting recommended the establishment of International Recovery Platform (IRP).

Only 4 months after the WCDR, the International Seminar on Post Disaster Recovery, in support of the IRP, was held at the JICA Kansai Center in Kobe and the Hyogo House, Japan between 11-13 May 2005, and IRP has been officially launched in Kobe.

Governance Structure of IRP

IRP currently consists of 17 governments, UN agencies and international organizations^{*1} including ADRC (as of March 2018). IRP focuses on the following three functions as priority activities on recovery mainly based in Kobe, Hyogo: a) Knowledge Management and Advocacy, b) Capacity Building on Disaster Recovery, and c) Support Activities after Large-scale Disasters.

Based on the agreement by the member at the establishment, Secretariat Office of the IRP is located in Hyogo, Japan and is responsible for organizing the IRP steering committee meetings to give advices and guidance as well as disseminating IRP activities and outcomes.

*IRP members: Government of Japan (Cabinet Office), Hyogo Prefectural Government, Asian Disaster Reduction Center (ADRC), Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Italy, Swiss Agency for Development and Coordination (SDC), United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), United Nations Secretariat of the International Strategy for Disaster Reduction (UNISDR), United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-HABITAT), International Labour Organization (ILO), The World Bank (WB), World Health Organization (WHO), Asian Development Bank (ADB), United Nations Centre for Regional Development (UNCRD), United Nations Office for Project Services (UNOPS), CEPREDENAC (Central American Integration System for natural disaster prevention, mitigation and response), and United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO)
