Bill Paxton:

In running our practice, each of us was wearing multiple hats. We were doing investment research, we were doing client relationship work, [and we were] dealing with compliance issues—you name it. The four partners . . . we were doing a lot of different things. And by being a part of CAPTRUST now, we're able to really leverage the expertise and resources that it has in-house. That frees us up to spend more time with clients, in front of prospective clients, and it's a good thing for our practice and for our employees because it means we can continue to grow.
