

Carnegie Mellon University

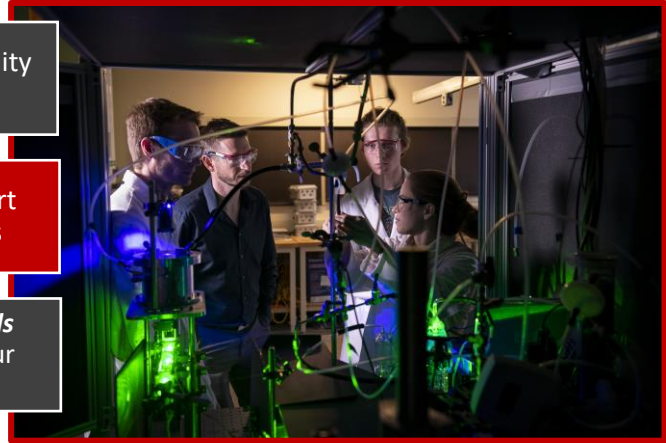

Office of Undergraduate Research and Scholar Development

The Office of Undergraduate Research and Scholar Development (OURSD) is your CMU resource to find opportunities to get started in research in any major! We provide:

One-on-one advising to help you find the right research opportunity to achieve your academic & professional goals

Grant, fellowship, and apprenticeship opportunities that support student research participation and presentation at conferences

Workshops and programming like the annual Meeting of the Minds Undergraduate Research Symposium to enhance every stage of your scholarly journey

The OURSD also aids undergraduate and graduate students in developing applications for competitive national and international scholarships and fellowships, including awards that support:

Study Abroad

(through the Critical Language Scholarship, the Gilman Scholarship, the Boren Award for undergraduates and graduate students, & more)

Career Development

(through the SMART Scholarship, the Truman Scholarship, the Humanity in Action Fellowship, & more)

Research and/or Graduate Study

(through the NSF Graduate Research Fellowship Program, the Fulbright U.S. Student Program, the Rhodes Scholarship, the Beinecke Scholarship, & more)

Want to learn more? Tap the circles below to connect with the OURSD any time!

Schedule an appointment with Richelle
Bernazzoli, Ph.D.
(Director)

Visit our website

Follow us on Instagram

Schedule an appointment with
Paige Zalman,
M.A. (Associate Director)