One new row that I added was holding habitat for adults to the migratory corridor-it was mistakenly under freshwater rearing sites.

You're right, the updated tables didn't get in there yet. Please update/revise the attach as needed. It's basically the same version you sent on 5/13, but I re-arranged the rows to go from high stressors and benefits to low stressors and benefits.

Sounds good. I quickly looked and the table I looked at doesn't look like the updated one from May 13 (our back and forth emails). I may be looking in the wrong place though, just let me know when you are ready.

No, but I'll send you just the tables in a few minutes. That's what I did with Evan and Jeff for w-r and it worked fine. Just use track changes. Thanks for checking.
