OUR MISSION

The Society for Creative Anachronism

Is an international non-profit, educational, volunteer organization. The SCA is devoted to the research and recreation of pre 17th century arts, culture, knowledge, combat, and more! We employ this knowledge of history to enrich the lives of participants through events, demonstrations, local meetings, online resources, and other activities.

Welcome to the Current Middle Ages

Join in the fun!

Unlike the typical Renaissance Fair, the SCA is participatory which means that everyone gets to take part in the events rather than just being a spectator, and our events happen year round! Everyone plays a part in creating the medieval atmosphere by reenacting the parts of the Middle Ages that interest them the most. This could be anything from combat, to costuming, to performing, and much much more! If you can dream it, you can do it in the SCA.

Picture a Meadow...

Ringed with colorful pavilions, bright banners flying overhead. Noble lords and ladies watch as armored knights compete with swords, spears, and other weapons. Minstrels play lutes and drums as they sing songs of battle. In the shade of one tent, a King and Queen watch the goings on, meet with the populace, and talk with their advisors. Is this a historical movie, a ren faire, or a comicon? No, this is the Society for Creative Anachronism!

Everyone is Welcome!

Anyone is welcome to join us as we recreate the Middle Ages! To join in the fun, all you need is an attempt at pre 17th-century clothing. Whether you don the garb of a Viking warrior, an Elizabethan noble, a fierce samurai, or anything in between is up to you!
